St. Emilion
lbsl
Bottle (1)
“The 1990 Cheval Blanc is fast becoming my favorite modern-day vintage of this Saint Emilion estate and perhaps the 1990 is now exiting the slip-stream of the feted 1982. This is unequivocally a brilliant wine. The nose holds nothing back, a line of senses all doing the conga towards your olfactory senses: macerated dark cherries, exotic kirsch-like aromas, leather, mahogany bureau, touches of crème de cassis and herbs all vie for attention. The palate is full-bodied and cloaked in a silky, velvety texture that leaves you a little ga-ga. There is so much fruit ram-packed into the bravura of a finish. Moreover, there’s just so much joie-de-vivre and decadence in this wine, but it never seems overpowering or ostentatious.” (98 pts. Neal Martin, Wine Advocate, July 2016)

Bottle (1)
“A spectacular wine that only goes from strength to strength, and which ranks among the pinnacles of my birth year vintage, the 1989 Haut-Brion wafts from the glass with a rich bouquet of blackberries, blackcurrants, cigar wrapper, loamy soil, black truffle, burning embers and vine smoke. Medium to full-bodied, deep and concentrated, it’s sumptuous and dramatic, with huge reserves of fruit that are complemented by carnal, savory nuances and framed by melting tannins and ripe acids. Concluding with a long, resonant finish, the only criticism one can make is that a 750-milliliter bottle simply isn’t enough.” (100 pts. William Kelley, Wine Advocate, Feb. 2022)

“The 1989 Haut-Brion remains one of the outstanding achievements of the decade, and it consistently flirts with perfection. I was fortunate to taste the wine three times over the space of six months, though this tasting note comes from a bottle poured at the château by Jean-Philippe Delmas – the first time I had ever tasted an ex-château bottle. It is a fabulous wine. Showing little maturity in terms of bricking, it has a fabulous bouquet of graphite, clove and tobacco aromas that burst from the glass, perhaps with a little more amplitude than others I have tasted. The palate is perfectly balanced, displaying amazing depth and perfect acidity, and (unsurprisingly, given its provenance) youthful and seemingly with many chapters to go. More floral elements emerge with time: violets on the nose and then later, a taste of eau-de-vie toward the finish. An astonishing wine that will give many more years of pleasure.” (100 pts. “The 1989 La Mission Haut-Brion has arguably lain in the shadow of the lionized 1989 Haut-Brion for a number of years, so let me put this out there: The 1989 La Mission has improved over the last decade and is now equal to Haut-Brion; at its best, it may ultimately even surpass it. This note comes from a bottle compared directly with Haut-Brion, and it easily holds its own. The heavenly, live-wire bouquet displays more minerality and tension than the Haut-Brion, offering black olive and crushed stone – penetrating and thrilling. The palate is perfectly balanced with filigreed tannin, incredible intensity and perhaps just a little more backbone compared to the Haut-Brion. The freshness knocks you sideways, and the length and precision are faultless. This is easily one of the best La Mission Haut-Brion ever crafted and, in this instance, just a perfect bottle of wine.” (100 pts. Neal Martin, Vinous, Sept. 2019)

“Both La Mission-Haut-Brion and Haut-Brion hit home runs in this vintage, which did not produce as many profound wines as the Bordeaux publicity machine suggested. 1989, the 200th anniversary of the French revolution, was an incredibly hot year (surpassed only by 1990 and 2003). Even from barrel the seamless 1989 La Mission revealed a special elixir aspect, tasting like it had been designed by Chanel. It still possesses a blue/purple color with only a hint of garnet creeping in, and the explosive aromatics offer up notes of licorice, creme de cassis, blueberry liqueur, smoky barbecue meats, truffles and graphite. If that’s not enough to get one salivating, the palate has never disappointed either. Full-bodied with extraordinary opulence as well as sweet, well-integrated, velvety tannins, this fresh, lively, blockbuster La Mission appears to be one of those rare wines that never goes through a closed, unfriendly stage. It has been a compelling, multidimensional effort from barrel, in its infancy, and as it heads into late adolescence. A remarkable tour de force in winemaking, it is one of the all-time profound La Mission-Haut-Brions.” (100 pts. Robert Parker, Wine Advocate, Aug. 2012)

The palate is medium-bodied with an arching structure that grips the mouth. The tannins are a little bolder than the 2001. This unfolds swirl by swirl, with hints of licorice emerging with time, and fanning out audaciously on the finish." (99 pts. Neal Martin, Vinous, Sept. 2021)

"The 2005 Latour was mind-blowingly profound in two recent tastings for this report. Deep and sensual to the core, the 2005 is utterly captivating. All the elements are so seamlessly put together. Graphite, crème de cassis, licorice, dark spice and lavender infuse the 2005 with so much energy. More than anything else, though, the 2005 is a Latour of texture and resonance. "Deep garnet colored with a touch of brick, the 2000 Mouton Rothschild (composed of 86% Cabernet Sauvignon and 14% Merlot) boldly bursts from the glass with tantalizing Black Forest cake, dried mulberries, kirsch and blackcurrant pastilles notes plus wafts of iodine, incense, potpourri and cinnamon stick with a hint of cigar boxes. Medium to full-bodied, the palate packs in the muscular fruit, framed by firm, ripe, grainy tannins and seamless freshness, finishing with phenomenal length. This is an incredibly complex and multifaceted wine, and it's drinking deliciously now. This said, I can't help but feel that it is holding something back, that it still has another layer of opulence and seduction to reveal in its tight-knit fruit and solid structure. I personally can't wait to see how this beauty will continue to unfold over the years to come." (97+ pts. Lisa Perrotti-Brown, Wine Advocate, Oct. 2019)

"The 1975 Petrus was served blind en magnum. I have drunk this vintage several times from bottle, but never from a larger format. What a sublime Pomerol this is. It has a heavenly bouquet with melted red berry fruit, Morello cherries, black truffle shavings and just a hint of garrigue developing in the glass. The 1975 displays wonderful complexity and is perhaps more Saint-Émilion in style than Pomerol. Pliant tannins and a silver bead of acidity frame the velvety smooth, sensual palate. The dark red fruit is infused with subtle tobacco and sous-bois scents, indicating its half-century age, but the finish feels long and vivacious. Sublime." (98 pts. Neal Martin, Vinous, June 2025)

"The floral, expressive nose was full of smoked meats, caramel, olives, roasted herbs, cherry jam and cedar. Fruity and smooth on the palate, mouthwatering with bite and a metallic tang to the finish, it feels polished and highly charged still – the acidity and overall sleekness are exceptional, though it was missing just a touch of mid-palate depth. Given the rare chance to taste Petrus 1982, I was expecting brilliance and while the wine was delicious, it didn't quite have the amplitude I was hoping for, but it will continue to give pleasure for a long time yet. Made by Christian Moueix and Jean-Claude Berrouet, who favoured elegance over extraction." (95 pts. Georgina Hindle, Decanter, May 2023)

"As I observed to Olivier Berrouet, it's hardly very original to find a wine critic extolling the virtues of this Pomerol reference point; and yet, whether one likes it or not, there's no denying that the 2020 Pétrus is a brilliant achievement and indeed one of the very finest vintages at this address over the last two decades. Unwinding in the glass with a deep bouquet of dark berries, cherries and cassis mingled with hints of exotic spices, violets and vine smoke, it's full-bodied, layered and concentrated, with huge depth at the core, exquisitely refined tannins and a youthfully reserved, even restrained profile despite its power and size. It still has that ethereal delineation on the nose of vivacious Seville orange marmalade and quince aromas, if maybe just a little more nuttiness compared to previous bottles. There is serious size and weight to the imposingly-scaled, rich, intense and mouth-coating flavors that possess outstanding depth, power and stunning length. This is not a particularly structured wine but the sheer complexity and class combine to create a knock out Chambertin, worthy of every accolade reserved for the very best in Burgundy. "Since the last time I tried this in 2016, it clearly evidences some evolution though it's clear that this is very much still on the way up. There is still a slight, if discernible, dash of unabsorbed wood present on the notably ripe nose that displays a superb range of spice elements along with just a hint of secondary character on the black currant, plum, earth and game scents. The superbly concentrated and overtly powerful big-bodied flavors are wonderfully rich, sappy and lavish large-scaled flavors that flash excellent power and drive on the highly complex and still firm though no longer compact finale that offers simply stunning length. This is actually relatively expressive and approachable for a young Cham yet the balance and harmony is present for this to age for decades. "Somewhat ironically, this is both more elegant and fresher than the Clos de Bèze with one of the most complex noses of the entire vintage as it combines a seemingly endless array of spice, mineral, fruit and Gevrey sauvage characters. The impressively rich, serious, mouth coating and broad-shouldered flavors possess superb volume and muscle on the sensationally persistent and explosive finish. This is even more backwards than the Bèze and should be capable of rewarding 20 plus years of cellar time as the tannins are also quite fine but very dense. At such an early juncture I honestly can't say whether this will exceed the brilliant 2009 but it just might as the 2010 is clearly one of the best five wines of the vintage." (98 pts. "Discreet wood sets off a highly reserved and not quite as overtly ripe nose of dark berries, earth, and animale nuances that are trimmed in notes of spice, in particular anise, sandalwood and exotic tea scents. There is superbly good detail and focused power to the large-scaled flavors that also possess an outstanding concentration of structure buffering dry extract that imparts a sappy texture to the intensely mineral-driven and explosively long finish. This is a youthfully austere example of the genre that is presently quite compact and linear and thus will require at least a decade to flesh out and unwind but if you have the patience to wait it should be a great Chambertin in 20+ years." "Here too there is just enough oak to mention but once again it's not really enough to impair the purity of the distinctly cool and ultra-spicy red currant, underbrush, sandalwood, lilac and plenty of earth aromas. The rich, intense and overtly muscular big-bodied flavors possess a similar level of minerality that is borderline pungent and it informs the explosively long, firm and very serious finish. This notably powerful, but not really austere effort, displays magnificent potential and if it develops its usual degree of complexity over time it should merit the upper end of my projected range. But as structured and firm as it is, I suspect that this will drink well after only 6 to 8 years of age thanks to the incredible abundance of dry extract." (98 pts. There is fine concentration to the utterly delicious flavors that are exuberant, big, rich, round and seductively sappy before culminating in an explosive and strikingly persistent finish. This remains an exciting wine of exceptional purity and balance. For my taste this is very much still on the way up and while it can certainly be drunk with pleasure it seems quite clear that this is nowhere yet near its apogee and as such, I would recommend allowing this to continue to slumber. "This seems to have changed very little in the past 10 years and it would be fair to describe its evolution as glacial as the ripe but exuberantly fresh nose is even spicier than that of the '05 Chambertin with kaleidoscopic breadth and depth. Like its stablemate this is a big and imposingly-scaled effort that possesses outstanding mid-palate concentration as the tannin-buffering sap completely coats the mouth on the explosively long, muscular and powerful finale. Despite the strikingly good size, weight and punch this remains a beautifully well-balanced effort that will need at least another 10 years of cellar time because even though it's not quite as structured and backward as the Cham, it is nowhere close to being ready for prime time. That said, it should be genuinely breathtaking when it finally arrives at its apogee. Tasted twice in the last year with consistent results." (98 pts. Allen Meadows, Burghound, June 2015)

A gentle touch of wood offsets the highly complex and ultra-fresh nose that interweaves a superb range of floral, spice and distinctly ripe fruit elements. The seductively textured, detailed, pure and vibrant broad-shouldered flavors display a subtle minerality before terminating in an explosive, powerful and tautly muscled finish that delivers massive length. This is a relatively powerful Rousseau Bèze yet it remains quite refined as the underlying tannins are almost inexplicably fine-grained and like the Clos St. Jacques, it should age effortlessly for years. The broad-shouldered flavors possess a seductive texture thanks to the copious amounts of dry extract that push the still moderately firm tannic spine to the background on the wonderfully long, balanced and lightly austere finale. I very much like the concentration here as well as the vibrancy and this is dry in the best sense of the term and make clear that this is still on the way up. There is a hint of menthol to the beautifully spicy and airy aromas that have transformed into entirely secondary fruit notes (though no sous-bois) that are nuanced by soil and game-inflected nuances. The medium-bodied, sweet and vibrant flavors are underpinned by evident minerality on the delineated, pure and saline finish where a hint of acid tang appears. For my preference this has peaked though it should have no trouble holding at this level for another decade, perhaps even a bit longer. I do worry that it may eventually begin to dry out but that should not be a short-term concern. The energetic, dense and mineral-driven medium-bodied flavors flash a lovely intensity that gradually builds from the mid-palate all the way to the lengthy if ever-so-slightly tangy backend. This is quite sappy and completely coats the palate with dusty tannins. At 17 years of age it wouldn't be a vinous crime to enjoy this now but it remains sufficiently austere to suggest that another 6 to 10 years of patience would be well rewarded. "Unusually for a Rousseau wine, this was moderately reduced and about the only aspect that could be discerned was the wood treatment. I found this doubly curious as a bottle tasted in 2016 was expressive, pretty and fresh with no reduction. Otherwise, the detailed and strikingly intense medium-bodied flavors coat the palate with dry extract that effectively pushes the still firm tannic spine to the background on the palate staining and beautifully long finish. This is arguably somewhat less elegant than it usually is but even so, it's still really lovely stuff. "A discreet but incredibly complex nose features notes of spicy, pure and relatively high-toned fruit that is laced with plenty of rose petal and violet hints. There is excellent energy and freshness to the lacy and stunningly precise broad-scaled flavors that build in intensity from the densely concentrated mid-palate to the explosive and mouth coating finish that seemingly goes on without end. This is a big LT with ample muscle and very firm but not aggressive structure along with superb depth of underlying material and positively mind-blowing length. But the real genius of this wine is the Zen-like harmony and poise though note that it is very tightly wound and will need many years of cellaring before it will be completely ready. In a word, magnificent." (98 pts. Allen Meadows, Burghound, Aug. 2015)

"This is unusually cool and airy in the context of what is typical in 2018 with its restrained and beautifully layered nose of rose petal, violet, lavender, lilac, sandalwood and soy nuances that add incredible breadth to the mostly red berry-suffused aromas, all of which is trimmed in very subtle oak influence. There is outstanding volume to the big, muscular and robust flavors that also possess focused power where the intensity does a slow build from the mid-palate to the explosively long and decidedly austere finish that just lasts and lasts. This is somewhat less 2018 in style than the prior wines though it is clearly quite ripe. It is also a bit less refined than it usually is, at least at this early stage, though to be fair it is still in its formative stages so we will see how it comes along with more aging. I would observe though that it is already abundantly clear that this is a stunningly great LT; indeed it may well rival the 1999 in time, is going to develop quite slowly over a very long period." "A classic and super-fresh La Tache nose is also quite restrained and only grudgingly offers up a kaleidoscopic range of spice elements that are laced with a wonderful array of floral nuances on the red and dark berry fruit scents. There is superb detail to the muscular big-bodied flavors that brim with both minerality and dry extract before culminating in an explosively long, balanced, youthfully austere and harmonious finish. This is sleek, classy and powerful plus it is packed with development potential though a wine that's going to require many decades to fully resolve the very firm lashing to supporting tannins. The 2019 LT reminds me of such recent vintages as the 2015, 2010 and 1999 but it may in fact ultimately surpass all of them, which is really saying something. In short, this too is absolutely brilliant." (99 pts. Allen Meadows, Burghound, Jan. 2022)

"This is initially quite fragrant and expressive but the longer that the wine sat in the glass the more it progressively shut down and a great deal of swirling was necessary to liberate the mostly red berry fruit aromas that are liberally laced with a broad range of spice and floral elements, in particular rose petal. The broad-shouldered flavors possess a beguiling texture even though the supporting structure makes itself felt very quickly on the firm but not hard finish that goes on and on. While this is still clearly extremely young 2006 is one of the few vintages of the DRC Richebourg with less than 20 years of age that could be reasonably approached now though I stress that there is still considerable upside development potential remaining. In a word, terrific. Tasted five times in the several years with consistent results." (95 pts. Allen Meadows, Burghound, April 2024)

The expansive and tautly muscular broad-shouldered flavors are, unusually, almost as fine as those of the RSV yet even slightly more complex with the same finely grained tannins. The length is similar but at present, the extra dimension of depth gives this the barest of edges. "This is arguably the most floral-inflected nose in the range and, somewhat unusually, it's just as spicy as the La Tâche despite being as cool and restrained as it always is at this early stage. The focused, intense and beautifully well-delineated flavors are an exercise in refined and focused power, all wrapped in an intensely mineral-inflected, youthfully austere and superbly persistent finish where a hint of warmth slowly emerges. In much the same fashion as the La Tâche, this is compact, backward and very tightly coiled yet the Zen-like sense of harmony is very much present. I was knocked out by just how marvelous this is and while it's obviously much too early to be tossing around 'one of the greatest ever' accolades, it's at least possible that the 2018 RC could well be a candidate, which is of course really saying something." "While it wouldn't be fair to describe this as shut down as there is reasonably good expressiveness to the notably floral and spicy nose that displays elements of green tea nuances on the mix of red and black pinot fruit aromas, it still is not nearly as exuberant as it was after it was first bottled. There is fine intensity to the medium-bodied flavors that are really quite fine with beautiful detail, indeed they are chiseled, and this sense of precision continues onto the long finish where a touch of '02 style acidity is in evidence. At this point in the wine's development the personality remains rather discreet and understated and while there is plenty of character, it's clear that the '02 RSV is built along the lines of elegance and finesse. I would add that this is close to peaking and it could certainly be enjoyed now." (93 pts. Allen Meadows, Burghound, Oct. 2021)

The detailed and ultra-refined flavors are crystalline in their purity and while they don't have the robust power of the Grands Echézéaux, there is notably more finesse and even a bit more overall length on the mildly austere finish. It's hard to capture mouth feel in words but think of lacy and silky textured flavors that possess a truly fine grain and you'll have a good idea about the palate impression of the '09 RSV. "Here the nose is brooding to the point of being almost mute and requires aggressive swirling to gradually reveal plum liqueur, purple fruit and a variety of subtle spice and floral wisps. There is terrific punch and detail to the middle weight flavors that aren't quite as concentrated or muscular as those of the Grands Echézeaux yet there is still impressive power on the wonderfully long finish. This is somewhat less refined than it usually is, and not quite as spicy either, though by contrast it is more tannic and a wine that also should develop slowly over the next 25 to 30 years. I found the 2018 to be almost atypical in the sense that it's much more powerful and imposing than usual and it doesn't have the refinement either though that may well come with time in bottle. "Subtle wood influence can be found on the equally ripe, airy and gorgeously elegant nose of black cherry, cassis, exotic tea and an almost endless range of spice elements. There is unusually good volume and punch to the lavishly rich, even opulent, medium weight plus flavors that coat the palate with sappy dry extract on the highly energetic and very powerful finish. This is also quite firmly structured and 2019 is relatively big and muscular vintage for the RSV. With that said, I suspect that the hallmark finesse and refinement will eventually reveal themselves with extended time in bottle. "This most recent bottle displayed just a touch of volatile acidity along with full-on secondary development, though no sous-bois, with really lovely complexity on the earthy ripe dark berry fruit and dried floral/spice aromas. There is a beguiling sweetness to the round, intense and suave medium-bodied flavors that display a discreet minerality on the wonderfully long, mouth coating and enveloping finale. This is a wine of harmony and balance and thanks to the underlying reserve of material should allow the '02 BM to live for years. I should note that some bottles seem a bit more developed than others but even so, for my taste this has arrived at its peak, not that there is any rush to drink up. "One of the wines of the vintage, the 2007 Bonnes-Mares Grand Cru has shut down considerably in the last few years, and it's clear that this is one of the few 2007 red Burgundies truly built for the long haul. The wine unfurls in the glass with a youthfully reserved bouquet of red and black cherries, peony, orange zest and woodsmoke that's far less extroverted and explosive than it was only four years ago. On the palate, it's full-bodied, deep and concentrated, with a tight-knit core, fine-grained structuring tannins and a long, stony finish. At this stage, the 2006 rendition is much more approachable, and I'd advise readers who own the 2007 to forget it for the better part of a decade." (97 pts. William Kelley, Wine Advocate, Dec. 2018)

- 77 Meursault 2005
Les Chevalieres, Coche-Dury
 Bottle (1)
"The 2005 Meursault Les Chevaliers, the Domaine's most elusive bottling, given its limited production, is astonishing. It delivers laser-like precision on the nose, as if someone dunked their hand into a flowing Alpine stream, removed a large stone, and crushed it with their bare hands. The palate displays exquisite balance. There's real tangy saltiness here, supreme weight and penetration with a long, sustained finish. It's an uncompromising bravura of a Meursault in all its unfettered glory." (97 pts. Neal Martin, Vinous, Nov. 2023)
 Estimate: $1,200-$1,500
 Starting Bid: $950
- 78 Meursault 1999
Les Rougeots, Coche-Dury
 Bottle (1)
"The 1999 Meursault Les Rougeots is a vintage that I have not encountered since 2003. I loved it then—I love it now. It shows less reduction than the 2006 on the nose: citrus lemon, custard creams, grilled walnut and orange peel all contributing to its complexity. The palate is beautifully balanced with a killer line of acidity, notes of walnut and sesame infusing the citrus fruit with a very intense, detailed finish that is a joy to behold. It is a brilliant wine and will last a few years yet." (94 pts. Neal Martin, Vinous, Nov. 2018)
 Estimate: $1,300-$1,700
 Starting Bid: $1,000
- 79 Puligny Montrachet 2018
Les Enseignerres, Coche-Dury
 Bottle (1)
"This is also quite floral in character with its array of honeysuckle, acacia and lavender notes that add a touch of elegance to the layered citrus, spice, pear and soft wood aromas. The rich, concentrated and opulent medium-bodied flavors are blessed with plenty of dry extract that soaks the palate while buffering the firm acid spine shaping the beautifully persistent finish. This needs to develop more depth with time in bottle but this exciting Puligny villages appears to be very promising." (93 pts. Allen Meadows, Burghound, June 2021)
 Estimate: $1,100-$1,400
 Starting Bid: $850
- 80 Corton Charlemagne 2019
Domaine de la Romanee Conti
 #05792, owc
 Bottle (1)
"There is enough wood to point out surrounding the mildly exotic and phenolic aromas of dried white and yellow orchard fruit that possess intricate nuances of spice, Asian-style tea, fennel, floral wisps and wet stone. I very much like the highly seductive texture of the caressing and beautifully concentrated mineral-driven big-bodied flavors that display stunningly good length on the very dry and impeccably well-balanced finale. This gorgeous CC should age gracefully for the next 12 to 15 years and drink well for twice that long. A great first effort!" (96 pts. Allen Meadows, Burghound, June 2022)
 Estimate: $4,000-$5,000
 Starting Bid: $3,000
- 81 Corton Charlemagne 2020
Domaine de la Romanee Conti
 #08108, owc
 Bottle (1)
"There is enough wood to merit mentioning but not so much as to overshadow the vaguely exotic and ripe aromas of white peach, apple compote, various citrus elements and a whiff of acacia blossom. The wood is also reflected by the big-bodied, powerful and overtly muscular flavors that possess outstanding richness that is buffered by both a firm minerality as well as bright acidity on the strikingly persistent, balanced and robust finale. This is not a CC of refinement but it is indisputably impressive in its fashion and a wine that should age and improve gracefully over the next 12 to 15 years and last thereafter for a similar period. In a word, superb." (96 pts. Allen Meadows, Burghound, June 2023)
 Estimate: $3,750-$4,750
 Starting Bid: $3,000
- 82 Montrachet 2019
Domaine de la Romanee Conti
 #01140, owc
 Bottle (1)
"A more reserved nose grudgingly reveals its even more floral-infused aromas of clove, anise, exotic tea, petrol and enough wood to mention. The exceptionally rich and concentrated broad-shouldered flavors brim with sappy dry extract that helps to buffer the even firmer acid spine shaping the redoubtably powerful and almost painfully intense finish that seems to have no end. This is absolutely brilliant and one of the brightest highlights of the vintage though note well that as is typically the case with this wine, it's going to require extended patience if you wish to see it at its peak." (98 pts. Allen Meadows, Burghound, June 2022)
 Estimate: $6,500-$8,500
 Starting Bid: $5,000

- 83 Montrachet 2020
 Domaine de la Romanee Conti
 Iscl, #01884, owc
 Bottle (1)
"A more subtle though still easily perceptible application of oak still easily allows the markedly spicier and prominent petrol scents to be appreciated. The exceptionally rich, concentrated and impressively constituted broad-shouldered yet refined flavors display outstanding power and drive on the focused, firm and hugely long finish. This is an opulent Montrachet but one that is clearly built to repay extended keeping. One of the great wines of the 2020 vintage that should age and improve over the next 30 to 40 years. In short, this is positively brilliant." (98 pts. Allen Meadows, Burghound, June 2023)
 Estimate: $6,500-$8,500
 Starting Bid: $5,000
- 84 Batard Montrachet 1999
 Domaine Leflaive
 Bottle (1)
"Leflaive did very well in 1999 and the Bâtard is consistent with that success with its expressive and now fully mature nose that features aromas of white flowers and traces of lime, white peach and spice wisps. The very rich and impressively layered flavors possess very good density along uncommon elegance and superb length on the balanced finish. To my taste this is fully mature and while it should continue to hold without difficulty, there is no further upside development to be had. Tasted multiple times with mostly consistent notes." (93 pts. Allen Meadows, Burghound, March 2024)
 Estimate: $1,200-$1,500
 Starting Bid: $950
- 85 Bienvenues Batard Montrachet 2017
 Domaine Leflaive
 Magnum (1)
"As is often the case chez Leflaive, the nose is quite similar to that of the Pucelles with the only difference being that it's a touch riper. The highly succulent medium-bodied flavors possess equally good mid-palate sap while delivering excellent depth and persistence on the focused, balanced and wonderfully long finish. This is class in a glass and very BBM in character." (92-95 pts. Allen Meadows, Burghound, June 2019)
 Estimate: $1,800-$2,400
 Starting Bid: $1,400
- 86 Krug Vintage Champagne 1988
 1lnl
 Magnum (2)
"Then it was time again! How do they do it? Along with Rémi Krug I premiere tasted the 88' beside the outrageously good 89', and could hardly believe my taste buds that signaled that the 88' was even better. They themselves compare the wine with the 81', 55' and 61'. Personally, I like it at the 66' and the ultra-elegant 79'. The finesse is unbeatable and the acidity is very noticeable. This is a wine that will be enjoyed by our grandchildren. Most certainly advise against the direct consumption of this young wine. I am of a different view as I believe that part of the happy-tear-producing subtlety disappears as the wine matures. I hope you accept it as an explanation for the unusually tight scoring gap between today and the potential top. In 2022 at its peak. 1 point lower in 2025." (97 pts. Richard Juhlin, Champagne Club, Oct. 2025)
 Estimate: $2,800-$3,750
 Starting Bid: $2,200
- 87 Salon Vintage Champagne 2012
 Le Mesnil
 owc
 Bottle (3)
"Back in 2014, Salon's president Didier Depond was quoted in the press as saying that 'since 2008, there has been no genuinely great vintage in Champagne' and that a 2012 from Salon wouldn't be released. But the just-released 2012 Brut Blanc de Blancs Le Mesnil shows that he had good reason to change his mind, as to my palate this is, after the 2008, the finest Salon produced this millennium. Unwinding in the glass with notes of citrus oil, wet stones, freshly baked bread, white currants and oyster shell, it's full-bodied, deep and concentrated, with a tightly wound core of fruit, racy acids and an elegant pinpoint mousse. Concluding with a long and resonant finish, this is a structured and powerful Salon that's a lot more incisive than, for example, the 2002 at the same stage, but which also carries more muscle and substance than a leaner vintage such as 2007." (98+ pts. William Kelley, Wine Advocate, Sept. 2021)

 Starting Bid: $1,600
- 88 Salon Vintage Champagne 2012
 Le Mesnil
 6owc
 Bottle (6)
"Tasted next to 2002 Krug Clos du Mesnil six months before it went on the market, the wine felt amazingly light, sublime and young. Funnily enough, my fellow tasters guessed at a young Grand Siècle, just as I have pointed out in recent vintages that the similarity in youth is striking as the vines grow up in the same premises. Here is a beautiful light note of strawberries and freshly washed sheets together with ultra-pure lemon zest and slender smooth delicate brushstrokes of the finest butter from Normandy. As it should be, the champagne grew grand in the glass and became increasingly poignant to be enjoyed in large, easy-drinking sips. As always, Salon has several gears that only storage can provide. Currently a really beautiful charmer. In ten years a serious player in the top league." (96 pts. Richard Juhlin, Champagne Club, Sept. 2024)

 Starting Bid: $3,000

- 89 Harlan Estate Cabernet Sauvignon 1997
3 missing wax, 3 exposed corks

"The wine is unquestionably extraordinary. Rich and opulent to the core, the 1997 possesses tremendous intensity from start to finish. Blackberry jam, licorice, chocolate and sweet spice lead into a crescendo of aromas and flavors on the finish." (98 pts. Antonio Galloni, Vinous, April 2022)

- 90 Harlan Estate Cabernet Sauvignon 2010
1lnl, owc
Bottle (3)
"The 2010 Harlan Estate is a total head-turner. Powerful, dense and exotically ripe – as so many wines are in this vintage – the 2010 dazzles with magnificent intensity. Baritone inflections run through the black cherry, graphite, smoke, tar and licorice flavors. Heat spikes at the end of what was generally a cold growing season yielded wines that bring together structure and fruit density." (100 pts. Antonio Galloni, Vinous, Jan. 2017)

Starting Bid: $2,000
- 91 Harlan Estate Cabernet Sauvignon 2016

"The deep garnet-purple colored 2016 Harlan Estate comes charging out of the glass, brandishing bold, opulent blackberry pie, warm cassis and blueberry preserves notes with hints of cigar box, Indian spices, crushed rocks and forest floor plus fragrant accents of lavender and black tea. Medium to full-bodied, the palate is built like a brick house, with a solid line of super ripe, grainy tannins and oodles of freshness supporting the layer upon layer of savory and earth-inspired notions, finishing on a lingering mineral note. Impressively structured, incredibly nuanced and possessing all this latent tension, this brazen beauty is set to live for a good 60 years and possibly more!" (100 pts. "The aromas are subtle yet enticing with lavender and rose petal notes. So aromatic and perfumed. Lots of currants and hints of spearmint. Chanel No. 5? Medium-bodied with super fine tannins that run the length of the wine with crunchy tannins that are energetic and vivid. It grows and grows and turns almost flamboyant. Goes on for minutes with a compressed and vibrant finish. Mostly cabernet sauvignon with some cabernet franc and a tiny percent of merlot and petit verdot. Drink it now to love and understand the potential. But it will age beautifully. Try after 2030." (100 pts. James Suckling, Feb. 2024)

- 93 Scarecrow Cabernet Sauvignon 2012
2nl, 2lsc
Bottle (4)
"The classic 2012 Cabernet Sauvignon included fruit from the 2-acre, old vine parcel that is nearly 70 years of age. It boasts an opaque purple color as well as copious notes of spring flowers, blackberries, black raspberries and wet rocks. The wine's gravelly minerality and spectacular opulence and density make it an instant classic. This massive, full-bodied 2012 should drink beautifully for 15-20+ years. It showed incredibly well last year, and it still reveals the potential to possibly merit a 3-digit score – it's that special." (98 pts. Robert Parker, Wine Advocate, Oct. 2014)

Bottle (3)
"The prodigious 2013 Cabernet Sauvignon Estate is 100% Cabernet Sauvignon, including fruit from some of the oldest Cabernet vines still in existence in Napa. This full-bodied classic displays notes of forest floor, earth, crème de cassis, blackberry liqueur, licorice and some pen ink. It is dense, full-bodied, prodigiously rich, massive in intensity, yet relatively light on its feet. This great ballerina of a wine has extraordinary ripeness but pulls back from the edge before going over the top. There are 1,000 cases of this classic, which should age effortlessly for 30+ years." Opulent and full-bodied with a multidimensional personality, gorgeous purity and a stunning, flawless texture, this spectacular wine is among the wines of the vintage." (100 pts. "The 2012 Screaming Eagle is sensational. Still quite deep and intense, the 2012 is revealing itself to be a long-distance runner. Scents of blackberry, grilled herbs, graphite, lavender and mocha are enticing, yet the 2012 remains very young. Imposing tannins and bright, vibrant acids from a year that cooled down at the end of the growing season remain prominent. Screaming Eagle is a rare 2012 that I would continue to cellar, as it is uncharacteristically potent. The best is yet to come." (98+ pts. Antonio Galloni, Vinous, May 2024)

Bottle (3)

"The 2013 Screaming Eagle remains a very young wine. Dark, brooding and quite potent, the 2013 possesses tremendous depth backed by equally serious tannins. Blackberry, graphite, lavender, mocha and dried herbs are some of the many nuances that gradually open in the glass. In most years, Screaming Eagle has a Lafite-like purity of fruit. The 2013 has plenty of that, but the tannin profile and somber feel remind me more of wines like Montrose or an imposing vintage of Mouton, like the 1986. Readers lucky enough to own the 2013 are in for a real treat, but I would not think of touching a bottle anytime soon, as it remains an infant. Two recent bottles were nothing short of spectacular." "The telltale sign of this iconic wine is its extraordinary purity of crème de cassis fruit, which is displayed abundantly in the 2014. It doesn't quite have the structure and mass of the 2013, but this sexy, up-front, opaque ruby/purple-colored wine is seamlessly constructed, full-bodied, and has a long finish with silky tannins. This seems to float across that palate with that great fruit purity that is a characteristic of Screaming Eagle." (97 pts. Robert Parker, Wine Advocate, Oct. 2016)

"Composed of 76% Cabernet Sauvignon, 20% Merlot and 4% Cabernet Franc, the very deep purple-black colored 2015 Screaming Eagle leaps from the glass with notes of freshly crushed black currants, black cherries and blackberries with suggestions of cigar box, black raspberries, red currants, chocolates, pencil lead and cast-iron pan plus a touch of potpourri. Medium to full-bodied with a rock-solid backbone of ripe, grainy tannins and oodles of freshness, it features the most incredible black and red fruit layers and finishes with incredible vibrancy and depth." Medium-bodied with jaw-dropping elegance, the palate is finely textured and yet built like a brick house with a super taut backbone and exquisitely knit acidity. The intense black and red fruit flavors are accented by layers of mineral and floral notions, finishing with incredible length and depth. Undeniably stunning." (100 pts. "The 2019 Screaming Eagle is a wine of mind-blowing elegance and finesse that stand apart from the generally more potent style of so many wines in this vintage. Deep, sensual and beautifully layered, the 2019 is simply magnificent from the very first taste. A whole range of red/purplish fruit, spice, leather, dried herb and blood orange accents give the 2019 its vivid, wonderfully detailed personality. Because of its price, both on release and in the secondary market, Screaming Eagle is the most talked about wine in Napa Valley. It is hype or not? All I can say is that I was very fortunate to drink a number of older vintages during lockdown and all those wines lived up to their reputations." (100 pts. Antonio Galloni, Vinous, Jan. 2022)

"Balanced, polished, seamless, and elegant—and just what you'd expect from this Oakville estate, humbly delivered in 2020. It possessed the freshness of the air outside, coupled with the warmth of the vintage, offering expressive blue and violet wildflowers, boysenberry fruit, graphite, cedarwood and spearmint and beautiful loamy earth notes. Medium-bodied and flush with the purity of red crunchy cherry and plum fruit augmented by undercurrents of blue and black-toned notes as well this vintage. All this is framed by a rich tapestry of long, silky, layered tannins and the finish is punctuated by rose petal notes. This wine is unquestionably in the running for an upgrade to a 100-point score. It's a dynamic, expressive, and gorgeous showing from the challenging vintage." (99 pts. Jonathan Cristaldi, Decanter, March 2023)

"The 2021 Cabernet Sauvignon is one of the most brooding, explosive young wines I have ever tasted here. The natural concentration of this drought vintage comes through loud and clear. Huge, youthful tannins reinforce the wine's potent feel. Waves of graphite, leather, licorice, grilled herbs and lavender saturate the palate, perfectly playing off a core of intense dark fruit. I usually have no issue drinking these wines on the younger side, but the 2021 really does need time." (100 pts Antonio Galloni, Vinous, July 2024)

"Floral and silky in the glass, with lovely forward fruit, the 2022 Cabernet Sauvignon is a decidedly delicate, elegant wine. It offers terrific freshness and verve. Floral and citrus overtones lift a core of red-toned fruit. The low-ish tannins of the vintage are evident in the wine's mid-weight structure. In the 2022, it's the wine's freshness I admire most. I imagine the 2022 is a rare Screaming Eagle that will drink well with minimal cellaring." (95 pts. Antonio Galloni, Vinous, Dec. 2024)

"The 2004 Chateau Margaux has always been a promising wine and here, served blind against the First Growths, it finally proved that patience is necessary when it comes to such wines. It has an exquisite bouquet with brilliant delineation, scents of redcurrant, raspberry coulis, cold stone (almost flint-like) with pencil-lead and cedar lending it a Pauillac-like sense of aristocratic flair. The palate is extremely well balanced with a supple opening, high perfect acidity with a surprisingly citric undercurrent that lends so much freshness and tension. While it does not have the weight and power of say, 2000, 2005 or 2009, it cruises along with utmost harmony and you become smitten by its charms - something that is perhaps in short supply among the First Growths in this vintage. This is excellent. Tasted September 2016." (94 pts. Neal Martin, Vinous, March 2017)

"Tasted from magnum and presented by Baron Philippe Sereys de Rothschild, the 1989 Chateau Mouton-Rothschild might not reach the ethereal heights of the 1982 or 1986, but it is certainly a lovely Claret. It has an attractive, slightly leafy bouquet armed with cedar and pencil lead. There is less fruit concentration than I expected, resolutely classic, slightly austere Bordeaux. The palate follows suit. What it lacks in substance it compensates with in balance and personality." (93 pts. Neal Martin, Wine Advocate, Jan. 2017)

Bottle (7)

"A heady, exotic wine, the 2003 Mouton Rothschild takes hold of all the senses. The ripeness and exuberance of the year comes through in spades as this dramatic, opulent wine shows off its radiant personality. The 2003 can be enjoyed now, but it could also use another few years for the tannins to soften. Still, the 2003 is pretty hard to resist today. This is an exceptional, deeply satisfying Mouton endowed with notable richness but also exceptional balance. Hints of toffee, torrefaction and dark spices are laced into the finish. In 2003 the blend is 76% Cabernet Sauvignon, 14% Merlot, 8% Cabernet Franc and 2% Petit Verdot, all brought in between a fairly narrow window of ten days between September 15 and 25." (95 pts. From a longtime Southern collector comes a further selection from a cellar shaped by nearly five decades of passion for fine wine. Maintained in a custom-built, thermostatically controlled cellar, the wines reflect a lifetime devoted to collecting, enjoying, and preserving the world's great wines.

An active participant in the international wine community for many years, the consignor approached collecting with both enthusiasm and knowledge. This offering continues the legacy of a true wine lover whose commitment to fine wine extended well beyond the cellar.

120 Chateau Mouton Rothschild 1986
 Pauillac
 1bn, 1vhs, 1htms, 3bsl, 3scl, 2cc, 1nc
 Bottle (3)
"The 1986 Mouton-Rothschild is a blend of 80% Cabernet Sauvignon, 10% Merlot, 8% Cabernet Franc and 2% Petit Verdot that was picked from 2 October until 16 October. Winemaker Philippe Dhalluin, who was not working at the property back then, told me that the pH was fairly low at 3.54 when it is usually around 3.75, due to the natural tartaric acid in the vines. It has a powerful and intense bouquet as always: exemplary graphite and cedar scents, a touch of black pepper and incense. It seems to unfurl in the glass, like a motor revving its engine. The palate is beautifully balanced with its trademark firm tannic structure, a Mouton-Rothschild with backbone and masculinity. Layers of black fruit intermingling with mint and graphite, a hint of licorice emanating from the Merlot, gently fanning out and my God, it is incredibly long. It is not like the 1985 Mouton-Rothschild that is so fleshy and generous. This is serious, aristocratic Mouton, a true vin de garde and yes, I do think drinkers will have to wait until it reaches its true peak. Sometimes that's just the way it is." (100 pts. 121 Chateau Mouton Rothschild 1989
 Pauillac
 1bn, 1hs, 3lbsl, 1lnl, 1lwsl, 3wrl
 Bottle (3)
"Tasted from magnum and presented by Baron Philippe Sereys de Rothschild, the 1989 Château Mouton-Rothschild might not reach the ethereal heights of the 1982 or 1986, but it is certainly a lovely Claret. It has an attractive, slightly leafy bouquet armed with cedar and pencil lead. There is less fruit concentration than I expected, resolutely classic, slightly austere Bordeaux. The palate follows suit. What it lacks in substance it compensates with in balance and personality." (93 pts. Neal Martin, Wine Advocate, Jan. 2017)

123 Chateau Haut Brion 2020
 Pessac-Leognan
 owc
 Double-Magnum (1)
"The 2020 Haut-Brion is more aromatically demonstrative than La Mission Haut-Brion, bursting with aromas of blackberries and raspberries mingled with licorice, cigar wrapper, pencil shavings and nicely integrated new oak. Full-bodied, ample and fleshy, it's rich and layered, with an enveloping core of fruit that's girdled by plenty of sweet, powdery tannin. Despite checking in at a similarly lofty alcoholic degree to the 2019, its more granular tannic profile tempers the vintage's sweetness of fruit and lends the wine a more classically proportioned, and more classically structured, profile." "The opaque purple-colored 1996 Harlan Estate reveals extraordinary intensity, a spicy, black currant, tobacco, cedar, and fruit cake-scented bouquet, full body, a texture oozing with glycerin and concentrated fruit, and moderate tannin in the blockbuster finish. It is one of the most concentrated and complete red wines one could hope to taste." (98 pts. Robert Parker, Wine Advocate, Jan. 2000)

Bottle (12)

"Now at 20 years, it has evolved into an absolutely stunning Saint Julien, clearly one of the best wines from the estate this decade. The bouquet is beautifully defined with intense black cherries, cedar, mint and a touch of oyster shell that seems to gain intensity in the glass. The palate is seamless from start to finish, extraordinarily pure, the 70% new oak totally assimilated of course, impressive weight and power allied with genuine finesse and tension towards the silky smooth finish. It stands as one of the best wines of the vintage without one iota of doubt and it will last 30-40 years without problem. You might call it "proper Claret." You might call it "delicious." (98 pts. 137 Chateau Lynch Bages 2008

Pauillac

lbsl, nl, lscl, crc, ssos, owc

Imperial (1)

"The 2008 Lynch-Bages is deep in color with minor aging on the rim. The nose is well-defined but demands coaxing, almost reluctantly revealing blackberry, briary, tobacco and mint aromas. The palate is medium-bodied with firm but fine tannins, lovely black fruit laced with tobacco and spice, dense and grippy. This is beautifully proportioned on the finish. Superb." (94 pts. 138 Chateau Lynch Bages 2008

Pauillac

Imperial (1)

"A sensational effort for the vintage, this textured, opulent, superb Lynch Bages is already strutting its stuff and should easily last for 20 years. Medium to full-bodied with an opaque dense purple color, notes of flowers and cassis, a layered texture that builds incrementally in the mouth and tremendous purity and depth, it can be drunk now or cellared for two decades or more. Bravo!" (93 pts. Robert Parker, Wine Advocate, Aug. 2011)

139 Chateau Margaux 1999

owc

Bottle (6)

"The 1999 Château Margaux is an immensely charming wine that's drinking beautifully today from both bottle and, in this case, magnum. Bursting with aromas of blackcurrants, blackberries and violets framed by subtle hints of cigar box, it's medium to full-bodied, supple and sensual, with an enveloping core of fruit, ripe and melting tannins and a long, penetrating finish. Analogies with the immensely charming 1985 vintage are very persuasive, as the 1999 is quite reminiscent of how the 1985 tasted fifteen years ago." (94 pts. William Kelley, Wine Advocate, Feb. 2022)

Imperial (1)

"The 2008 Montrose has a lifted perfumed bouquet with blackberry, bilberry, iris and limestone scents, nicely defined and opening with time. The palate is medium-bodied with a firm backbone, layers of cedar-tinged black fruit, spicebox and white pepper, leading to a persistent, structured finish that probably needs another year or two to soften. Impressive." (94 pts. Neal Martin, Wine Advocate, Feb. 2018)

Estimate: $900-$1,200

Starting Bid: $700

- 141 Chateau Mouton Rothschild 2003
 Pauillac
 Double-Magnum (1)
"A heady, exotic wine, the 2003 Mouton Rothschild takes hold of all the senses. The ripeness and exuberance of the year comes through in spades as this dramatic, opulent wine shows off its radiant personality. The 2003 can be enjoyed now, but it could also use another few years for the tannins to soften. Still, the 2003 is pretty hard to resist today. This is an exceptional, deeply satisfying Mouton endowed with notable richness but also exceptional balance. Hints of toffee, torrefaction and dark spices are laced into the finish. In 2003 the blend is 76% Cabernet Sauvignon, 14% Merlot, 8% Cabernet Franc and 2% Petit Verdot, all brought in between a fairly narrow window of ten days between September 15 and 25." (95 pts.  St. Emilion
 2nl, 1lsl, 2owc
 Double-Magnum (2)
"The 1999 Pavie shows very similarly to another ex-chateau bottle encountered a few months earlier. It has an attractive bouquet that has mellowed in recent years, notes of bacon fat and mint infusing the red and black fruit. The palate is medium-bodied with grainy tannin, red fruit, a touch of hung game and a tarry finish that does not convey the same level of freshness and delineation as the 1998 and 2000 do nowadays. A seductive Pavie, though less turbocharged than subsequent vintages." (92 pts. Neal Martin, Vinous, Sept. 2019)

"The 2005 Pichon Baron is in a gorgeous spot right now. Aromatically expressive and open, the 2005 is so expressive. Cedar, sweet pipe tobacco, mint, dried flowers, mocha and sweet red cherry fruit all meld together in a creamy, wonderfully expressive Pauillac. A long, persistent finish with terrific saline energy rounds things out in style. The 2005 is a super classic Pichon Baron that delivers so much pleasure." (95 pts.  Double-Magnum (1)
"The 1999 Yquem is a wine I've tasted several times in recent months since it is available by the glass in a local restaurant. It's a middle-of-the-road Yquem, a fine Sauternes but nothing special. The aromatics always feel a little advanced for the wine's age, offering tangerine, mandarin and light butterscotch scents but perhaps just missing the clarity and complexity of top vintages. The palate has pleasing viscosity and is spicier than expected, with touches of ginger complementing the orange peel and dried apricot notes toward the conservative finish." (90 pts. Like the Ruchottes the mouthfeel of the middle weight flavors is quite sleek and ultra-intense while flashing plenty of minerality on the strikingly well-detailed finish that displays focused power and superb length. This is an exercise in harmony and grace and while it should be approachable after only 6 to 8 years, it should age effortlessly for several decades." (94 pts. Allen Meadows, Burghound, Jan. 2020)

Les Corbeaux, Vieilles Vignes, Domaine Bachelet
 4lsl
 Bottle (12)
"Like all of the '05 Bachelet wines I tasted the Corbeaux displays enough wood to notice though not so much as to dominate the distinctly sauvage and highly complex dark berry fruit and earth aromas that remain largely if not completely primary in character. There is the same excellent complexity to the utterly delicious and seductively textured medium-bodied flavors that brim with dry extract on the still firm finale that delivers outstanding length on the impeccably well-balanced finish. Thanks to the abundant sap this is not only quite drinkable now but it's enjoyable as well and thus my advice to hold for a few more years to allow the tannins to mellow is less important than usual." "A notably ripe yet still fresh nose speaks of liqueur-like aromas of plum, black cherry and plenty of earth and floral nuances and in particular violet. The cool, sleek and intense broad-shouldered flavors possess a velvety, even seductive, mid-palate mouthfeel along with good power on the stony, complex and solidly persistent finish where the only nit is a hint of warmth. The supporting tannins are ripe and firm and sufficiently dense that this will likely need 15 to 18 years to reach full maturity." (93 pts. Allen Meadows, Burghound, Jan. 2021)

"A notably ripe nose speaks mostly of poached plum, warm earth and an array of spice and floral nuances that are trimmed in smoky wood hints. The decidedly rich and solidly concentrated big-bodied flavors possess a velvety mid-palate texture along with excellent energy on the muscular, moderately austere and superbly persistent finish. This is definitely robust and while not exactly rustic, it's not Romanée St. Vivant either - either way, it's clearly built-to-age and a wine that's going to need at least a decade first though it should be reasonably approachable thereafter." (94 pts. Allen Meadows, Burghound, Jan. 2023)

"Subtle but perceptible wood toast frames the very ripe yet again quite fresh aromas of poached plum, dark currant and a broad array of spice elements. There is fine density to the bold medium weight plus flavors that brim with dry extract that buffers the beautifully long and youthfully austere finish that flashes a touch of sweetness. This is a big and highly complex Ech, indeed the word robust applies but I very much like the evident development potential, and speaking of which, this is also going to need extended patience." "An overtly spicy and agreeably cool nose combines notes of soy, star anise, clove and sandalwood with those of plum, violet and a hint of jasmine tea. Here too there is excellent intensity to the attractively textured medium-bodied flavors that flash seriously good length on the ever-so-mildly warm finale. This compact, dusty and moderately austere bitter pit fruit-inflected effort is going to need extended cellaring to arrive at its full apogee. As I noted last year, I don't ever recall seeing a better vintage from barrel and all of that potential appears to have made it into bottle. In sum, the 2019 Ech is as good as any vintage in recent memory from the domaine." (95 pts. Allen Meadows, Burghound, Jan. 2022)

 Bottle (2)
"While I had tasted this many times shortly after release, I hadn't had the chance to see it again since 2008 so it was nice to update my acquaintance. Though subtle, there is still a touch of oak framing the ripe and penetrating red and blackberry fruits and oriental spice aromas comprising the nose. There is outstanding power to the beautifully detailed and quite robust flavors that deliver excellent precision and persistence on the beautifully well-balanced finale. This is a big wine with richness, superb length and impressive refinement and it's clear that this will live for decades. In sum, this is very classy juice with plenty of upside development potential remaining." (95 pts. Allen Meadows, Burghound, July 2017)

 Starting Bid: $4,000

Lot 141

168 Grands Echezeaux 2002

Domaine de la Romanée Conti

Iscl, #00435

Bottle (1)

"This is still exceptionally youthful with wonderfully spicy and highly complex red pinot fruit aromas that are enhanced by subtle nuances of floral notes, damp earth, underbrush and even a hint of game. The big, muscular but utterly refined full-bodied flavors are superbly intense, reserved and backward yet not hard as there is plenty of sap that buffers the firm but remarkably sophisticated tannins on the stunningly lengthy finish. This is a very concentrated wine of real breed and impeccable balance that should age for at least 3 decades and perhaps longer. A most impressive Grands Ech that is very much still on the way up. Consistent notes." (94 pts. Allen Meadows, Burghound, April 2017)

Estimate: $2,400-$3,250

Starting Bid: $1,900

169 Grands Echezeaux 2002

Domaine de la Romanée Conti

#00495

Bottle (1)

"The aromas of red berry and cocoa powder are fleeting, with red fruits and spice on the palate. A wine of finesse and medium weight, showing elegance and harmony. Offers a fine, lingering aftertaste." (93 pts. Bruce Sanderson, Wine Spectator, Dec. 2012)

Estimate: $2,400-$3,250

Starting Bid: $1,900

170 Grands Echezeaux 2009

Domaine de la Romanée Conti

#01429, 01430, 02384

Bottle (3)

"Opened at an event in Burgundy from bottles supplied directly by the domaine, this shows a gorgeously spicy and still relatively primary nose with overtly ripe aromas of black cherry, plum and a suggestion of mocha. There is a lovely sense of verve to the supple yet clearly concentrated middle-weight-plus flavors that are overtly muscular but not rustic, culminating in a superbly complex, palate-staining finish that goes on and on. This is almost always a very substantial wine and 2009 is no exception; while it is certainly not at its apogee, it is not so backward that it couldn't reasonably be enjoyed now. That said, it should continue to improve over the next five to perhaps ten years and hold for several more decades." (94 pts. Allen Meadows, Burghound, July 2023)

Estimate: $6,500-$8,500

Starting Bid: $5,000

- 171 Grands Echezeaux 2010
 Domaine de la Romanee Conti
 1lsl, #00475, 00745, 01334
 Bottle (3)
"A soaring, gorgeously complex and highly spiced nose is distinctly cool and overtly floral in character with notes of violet and rose petal, hoisin, soy and clove along with black pinot fruit, cassia and plum. The impressively intense and very serious broad-shouldered flavors possess outstanding mid-palate concentration before culminating in a strikingly long, palate-staining finish. This stunningly long effort is quite fine by the usual standards of the appellation because while it is certainly muscular, it's taut and sleek rather than robust. Not surprisingly at only nine years of age, this beauty is still very much on the way up and will need at least another decade to arrive at its peak." (95 pts. Allen Meadows, Burghound, April 2019)
 Estimate: $6,500-$8,500
 Starting Bid: $5,000
- 172 Grands Echezeaux 2012
 Domaine de la Romanee Conti
 #01674
 Bottle (1)
"A more deeply pitched and more complex nose also evidences plenty of floral influence on the gorgeously spicy red and black pinot fruit scents that are trimmed in just enough wood to notice. There is excellent volume and punch to the big-bodied, concentrated and brooding flavors that also brim with an abundance of dry extract, all wrapped in an intensely mineral-driven, explosive and strikingly persistent finish. What I find interesting is how such a big wine delivers this much power and muscle with no impression of weight or undue heaviness. As is usually the case at this early juncture, this is very tight, compact and linear and a wine that is going to need at least 18 to 20 years to reveal its full potential." (94 pts. Allen Meadows, Burghound, Jan. 2015)

"Here the expressive nose is even spicier and more floral with its lovely array of rose petal, lilac and lavender scents adding elegance to the mostly dark pinot and earth aromas that are also trimmed in a bit of wood but in this case it is even more subtle. As is virtually always the case this is bigger, richer, more powerful and more muscular with excellent volume to the rich and mouth coating flavors that deliver superb length on the chiseled, robust and hugely long finale." (95 pts. Allen Meadows, Burghound, Jan. 2017)

"Here too there is a touch of oak toast surrounding the notably ripe but markedly restrained aromas of black cherry liqueur, violet, lavender, exotic tea and sandalwood. The rich, full-bodied and muscular flavors also brim with sappy dry extract that possess a seductive mouthfeel before culminating in a hugely long finish. Like the Echézeaux, this is a big, bold and robust effort that should develop gradually over the next 25 to 30 years. This contrast of power and refinement is potentially one of the greatest Grands Echézeaux the Domaine has produced in the 21st C though the 2019 will be a worthy rival." (95 pts. Allen Meadows, Burghound, Jan. 2021)

- 175 Grands Echezeaux 2019
 Domaine de la Romanee Conti

 Bottle (2)
"Once again, the nose is super-floral with ripe but airy and elegant aromas of various dark berries, star anise, dried tangerine peel, warm earth and a plethora of spice elements. As is virtually always the case, there is better size, weight and muscle present on the broad-shouldered flavors that delivers stunningly good length on the equally compact and beautifully well-balanced finale. There is superb complexity and overall, this is breathtakingly good though as always with this wine, be prepared to allow for ample bottle age as the supporting tannic spine is very firm. Magnificent." (96 pts. Allen Meadows, Burghound, Jan. 2022)

"An intensely floral nose features notes of dried rose petal and lavender along with cool red berry fruit that is liberally laced with earth, spice and menthol nuances. The taut and muscular broad-scaled and concentrated flavors are precise, intense and explosively long on the focused and stunningly persistent finish that is youthfully austere and breathtakingly intense. This faultlessly well-balanced but very firm effort will require extended cellaring. My sense is that it will be sufficiently civilized to enjoy by 2025 but if you wish to see this superb effort at its peak, more patience still will be necessary." (96 pts. - 179 Clos St. Denis 2009
 Domaine Dujac
 Bottle (3)
"This is relatively lightly colored in the context of the vintage. Ripe but agreeably fresh aromas are composed by evident floral influence on the spicy black cherry-scented nose. The intense, sappy and relatively powerful medium-bodied flavors exude a discreet minerality on the beautifully persistent and well-balanced finish. 2009 is a powerful yet refined vintage for this still youthfully firm effort that should continue to age effortlessly. I would add that in much the same fashion as the '09 Clos de la Roche, this could be enjoyed now though I would be inclined to continue to cellar it." (94 pts. Allen Meadows, Burghound, Nov. 2017)

- 180 Gevrey Chambertin 1999
 Aux Combottes, Domaine Dujac

"As is often the case, Combottes resembles a lesser Latricières and this wine is cut from that cloth with its elegant red raspberry fruit and prominent minerality. There is not a lot of density here but the finesse, elegance and length are of grand cru caliber. It is wines such as this that raise the question as to whether Aux Combottes should be considered for grand cru status." (89–91 pts. Allen Meadows, Burghound, Jan. 2001)

"Red cassis fruit aromas of striking elegance and finesse introduce round, supple, forward, and precise middle weight flavors. The finish is quite long and I very much like the vibrancy and overall freshness here plus this too displays near perfect balance. There is a touch of finishing warmth but not enough to detract from what is a really stylish and seductive wine." (91 pts. Allen Meadows, Burghound, Jan. 2005)

This is a really lovely effort that will age well yet be accessible early on." (91–93 pts. Allen Meadows, Burghound, Jan. 2007)

"The 1997 Bonnes Mares is medium to dark ruby-colored, and offers beguiling aromas of red and black fruits, stones, and earth. It explodes on the palate, with super-expressive candied red cherries, as well as licorice and road tar flavors. This rich, dense, gorgeously structured, powerful, and expansive wine is masculine and broad-shouldered, yet opulent and hedonistic. Medium to full-bodied, complex, and harmonious..." (93 pts. "A brilliant Village Cru from Christophe Roumier. It has a beautiful, subtle nose with Morello, wild hedgerow and a touch of wild heather and violets. The palate is feminine, seamless with filigree tannins, though it seems to have closed down since bottling. It has lost that malic tincture it exhibited in barrel, but this Chambolle will certainly be worth the wait. Village crus do not get much better!" (92 pts. Neal Martin, Wine Journal, Sept. 2008)

"This is exceptionally pretty and notably elegant as the nose features a moderately pitched combination of floral notes, red pinot and cassis aromas. There is a lovely mineral component to the satin-textured medium-bodied flavors where the supporting tannins are ultra-refined, all wrapped in a lacy and persistent finish. A classic Chambolle of finesse." (90 pts. Allen Meadows, Burghound, Jan. 2013)

Les Cras, G. Roumier
Bottle (6)
"Still impressively dark color with very little lightening at the rim. On the ripe dark berry fruit nose there is a hint of brett but it's sufficiently subtle as to not really detract from the appeal. Moreover, even at 24 years of age, there is nary a trace of sous-bois and really not all that much secondary development either. There is excellent richness, power and a taut muscularity to the intensely mineral-driven flavors that offer fine depth and persistence if perhaps not the finesse of a classic example. For my taste, this has largely arrived at its peak though there is so much stuffing that the '99 Cras will easily hold another 20+ years, perhaps longer." (92 pts. "A very densely fruited nose is composed mostly from the black side of the fruit spectrum along with notes of menthol, spice and Asian tea nuances. There is excellent concentration to the intense and attractively well-detailed middle weight flavors that possess a suave and highly seductive mouth feel before terminating in a mouth coating, complex and hugely long finish. This is an unusually powerful RSV that is less elegant than usual yet one that is still very much on the way up, indeed I would suggest allowing it at least another 5 to 7 years of cellar time as it's very much still a baby." Consistent with the freshness of the nose there is a lovely sense of vibrancy to the medium-bodied flavors that offer evident minerality that carries over to the delicious, focused and dusty finale. While to my taste this is nearing its apogee, I would be inclined to allow it another 3 to 5 years first. In sum, this is a classically styled Amoureuses of superb class and grace." (93 pts. Les Groseilles, Pousse d'Or

"Subtle notes of VA add lift to the otherwise pretty red currant, cherry, dark raspberry and pretty spice nuances. Once again the small yields are evident as the middle weight flavors possess plenty of sappy dry extract that buffers the moderately firm tannic spine shaping the lingering if slightly warm and dry finish. This appears to have been more obviously affected by the recent bottling and was showing somewhat awkwardly. Note that my rating assumes that this is a passing phase rather than a significant problem." (91 pts. Allen Meadows, Burghound, April 2018)

I would add that in the context of the 2017 vintage, this is a big wine." (92-95 pts. Allen Meadows, Burghound, April 2019)

"This presently has the same nose as the Corton-Charlemagne as it's both reduced and mildly woody though I would not expect this to persist beyond the first few years as the reduction is not heavy. There is once again outstanding volume and concentration as well as impressive size, weight and richness to the highly seductive big-bodied flavors that possess a plenitude of dry extract that both coats the palate and buffers the firm acid spine shaping the gorgeously long and well-balanced finale. In 2014 this more resembles Montrachet than Chevalier and while this should amply reward extended cellaring it is not so backward that it shouldn't drink well after 6 to 8 years." (95 pts. "The 2014 Chevalier-Montrachet La Cabotte Grand Cru delivers impressive aromatic intensity on the nose—there is no messin' about here, you are clearly in Grand Cru territory. Yellow plums commingle with fennel and walnut scents, a touch of smoke lingering in the background. Wonderful delineation. The palate feels rounded and sensual on the entry, very harmonious with just a touch of viscosity and then there is that peacock's tail on the finish that completes a fabulous Chevalier La Cabotte." Again, this could use better depth but that should reasonably occur here as well." (92–95 pts. Allen Meadows, Burghound, June 2022)

"A background whiff of reduction isn't enough to detract from the otherwise very Meursault nose combining notes of hazelnut and acacia blossom with those of apple compote, spice and a whisper of brown butter. The impressively rich medium-bodied flavors possess very good volume and evident minerality on the bitter lemon-inflected finish that manages to deliver fine length even though it is still pretty tightly wrapped. Not surprisingly at only 6 years of age, this is still very much on the way up and I would suggest allowing it to continue to slumber for at least another 2 to 3 years and 6 to 8 would almost certainly be better. Lovely juice." (91 pts. Allen Meadows, Burghound, Sept. 2023)

"This is also sufficiently reduced to completely overshadow the underlying fruit. On the palate there is terrific, indeed almost painful, intensity to the medium weight flavors that flash the innate refinement of a fine Puligny before culminating in a very clean, sleek, bone-dry and chiseled finale. This is presently very tightly wound and a wine that definitely will need at least some patience. Excellent and this is a step up from its usual quality." (91-94 pts. "An expressive nose of honey, lemon peel and grapefruit merges into pure, round but muscled and punchy flavors brimming with Chablis character and culminating in a soil-driven, stony and delicious finish. This is actually a bit more refined than usual though it can't match the best Ters here in that regard. It's also relatively approachable because of the mid-palate fat, which makes it somewhat atypical in the context of the vintage." (90 pts. Allen Meadows, Burghound, Oct. 2009)

This is not quite as rich as the Butteaux but it's finer as the chiseled flavors are flat out gorgeous. In a word, stunning." (94 pts. Allen Meadows, Burghound, Oct. 2010)

"The ripe dried yellow orchard fruit and iodine aromas are knocking on the door of full maturity and will likely go secondary soon. There is excellent richness and power to the medium-bodied and mineral flavors that are not exactly classic but certainly more so than many examples of 2009 Chablis today. For my taste this has arrived at its peak and would probably best be drunk over the next 5 years or so as it risks becoming heavy if held for the longer-term. Tasted several times with consistent notes." (92 pts. Allen Meadows, Burghound, April 2017)

"The expressive, fully mature and ripe nose displays various floral and truffle nuances, citrus, stone, oyster shell and ocean breeze scents that are trimmed in just a hint of wood. There is fine richness to the stony, sappy and sleekly muscular middle weight flavors that display a lovely sense of harmony and vibrancy on the moderately dry and impressively persistent finish. Tasted several times over the last few years and based on this most recent bottle, my sense is that the '11 MdT has reached its peak. I would further observe that while it's presently in no danger of declining, I wouldn't suggest holding it for another decade either. Note that my scores have ranged between 92 and 93 points." "A strikingly layered nose is cool, pure and airy with its floral-suffused nose that possesses a lovely range of classic Chablis scents along with discreet wood nuances. There is an absolutely gorgeous mouth feel to the medium-bodied flavors that exude a fine bead of minerality on the gorgeously long, saline and impeccably well-balanced finale. While this isn't super-dense, it is an exercise in harmony and grace and at only 5 years of age, it almost goes without saying that the '14 MdT is very much still on the way up and I wouldn't touch a bottle for at least another 5 years and 7 to 10 may be required. Lovely juice." (93 pts. Allen Meadows, Burghound, Feb. 2019)

"A still wonderfully fresh, floral and citrus imbued nose is laced with hints of mineral reduction and quinine. The gorgeously textured medium-bodied flavors possess fine depth and persistence on the well-balanced, stony and attractively dry but not really austere finale. This classy effort is clearly still on the way up and should continue to age gracefully for years. With that said, it's not so compact that it couldn't be enjoyed now even though it's equally clear that it's by no means mature." (94 pts. Allen Meadows, Burghound, March 2024)

"This remains a very young wine with its expressive nose of fresh, cool and restrained green fruit, sea breeze and wet stone aromas that don't display the mild over ripeness of many 2009 Chablis. There is fine detail to the mineral-inflected flavors that culminate in an impeccably well-balanced and gorgeously persistent finish that possesses a lovely sense of harmony. There is a real sense of energy and this is still very much on the way up. I have added one year to my estimated drinking window and this should be one of the best wines of the 2009 vintage." The full-bodied, rich and muscular big-bodied flavors are succulent and wonderfully textured while delivering outstanding length on the stony, focused and refreshingly dry finish where the only nit is a hint of warmth. As Raveneau's Valmur almost always is, this is a powerful and serious wine that certainly could be enjoyed now though for my taste, it needs at least another 5 to 7 years. Tasted twice in 2021 with consistent notes." (93 pts. Allen Meadows, Burghound, Oct. 2021)

There is excellent mid-palate concentration to the big, very rich and concentrated flavors that display a markedly round and suave mouth feel, all wrapped in a powerful if somewhat youthfully awkward and warm finish. I very much like the overall depth and length and my sense is, and particularly so given this wine's impeccable track record, that it will ultimately harmonize much more completely." (93 pts. "The 2003 Hermitage la Chapelle is a stunner! From a scorching-hot year that may never be repeated, this behemoth took two months to ferment dry and hit 14.1% natural alcohol. In addition, while in a big year they can produce 80,000 to 90,000 bottles (or more in the case of the 2000), they only made 50,000 bottles of the '03. Locked and loaded with notions of plums, Asian spice, olive tapenade and sweet cassia, it hits the palate with full-bodied richness, a massive mid-palate and layers of sweet tannin. This blockbuster is guaranteed to put a smile on your face and will drink beautifully for another 15-20 years." (96 pts. Jeb Dunnuck, Wine Advocate, Sept. 2015)

"The finest young wine I've encountered from Delamotte, the 2008 Blanc de Blancs unfurls in the glass with an expressive bouquet of freshly baked bread, lemon oil, green apple, oyster shell and mandarin. On the palate, it's medium to full-bodied, textural but incisive, with superb concentration and depth at the core and a long, penetrating finish. Less autolytic in style than the 2004, some 60,000 bottles were produced, around a third less than in an average vintage. This bottle was disgorged a year ago with seven grams per liter dosage." "Incredibly good from the start. Crystal clear, clean, vibrating fresh without any disturbing acidity. Pure harmony from day one. Deep wide bouquet reminiscent of ancient days of concentration. Aromas that are intertwined to the most beautiful symphony. Warm generous breadiness, duck liver with brioche, butter-fried cep and a composite exquisite fruit ranging from yellow-green to orange. The texture is heavenly with a dense layer of silkiness over the ferociously fresh acidity and critical minerality. So, just in time for Richard Geoffroy's retirement, he releases the best wine of his life. What a grand finale and what a great farewell." (97 pts. Richard Juhlin, Champagne Club, June 2025)

"Blending 62% Pinot Noir with 38% Chardonnay, fermented without malolactic and disgorged in 1996 after five years sur lie, the 1990 Cristal is still a superb and amazing prestige Champagne that is far from being over-matured or faded. The wine is as rich as it is pure and finessed, revealing a mineral tension and youthful freshness that is nothing short of stunning given the low-acidity vintage. This proves impressively that substance and terroir matter far more than just acidity." (97 pts. Stephan Reinhardt, Wine Advocate #237, Jun. 2018)

252 Louis Roederer Vintage Champagne 2008

Cristal

"A sublime Champagne from Cristal from the famous and much praised 2008 vintage, which Jean-Baptiste Lécaillon calls a 'dry and cool year that was a replay of 1996'. 'The 2008s are so good because all the cellar masters learnt from 1996 - we adapted,' he said during the masterclass in New York. Sharp, tangy, seriously mouthwatering, direct and compelling with tension at the very beginning that slowly expands and widens as the flavours relax in the mouth. Brioche, toasty notes on the nose with just-ripe green and yellow fruit aromas. Great energy and confidence on show, with hints of white chocolate that offset the low pH and high acidity. Pure and expressive, this is a wine that really gives the emotion with flavour that just lasts and lasts in the mouth full of red berries and chalkiness. Simply divine." (99 pts. "The 2014 Cristal is another in a long line of gorgeous wines from Roederer and long-time Chef de Cave Jean-Baptiste Lecaillon. A dazzling, vibrant Champagne, the 2014 impresses with a stunning combination of fruit density and linear energy that brings to mind a hypothetical blend of 2012 and 2008. At times, the bubbles feel totally wrapped up in waves of creamy, resonant fruit to the point the mousse is barely perceptible, especially with aeration. The flavors are bright and finely sculpted, leaning very much into the citrus, floral and mineral end of the spectrum." (98 pts. Antonio Galloni, Vinous, Feb. 2022)

"Disgorged in April 2021 with the usual 4.5 grams per liter dosage, Philipponnat's 2012 Extra-Brut Clos des Goisses offers up generous aromas of pear, pomelo and peach mingled with hints of honeycomb, macadamia nut and fresh bread. Full-bodied, broad and vinous, it's fleshy and textural, with a strikingly concentrated core of fruit, compelling mid-palate plenitude, bright acids and a pillowy pinpoint mousse. Demonstrative, even dramatic, its youthful generosity is deceptive, as it's only with some bottle age that real complexity will emerge." (97+ pts. William Kelley, Wine Advocate, Jan. 2022)

"Only 13,000 bottles as the spring frost took close to half of a wine fermented in old Meursault casks with 4.5 grams dosage. One of the elegant young Clos des Goisses I tasted. Sure, there are some green grassy and gooseberry-like top notes, but above all a wonderful silkiness and a showy light fruitiness you find in the heart of the vineyard in Les Cintres. Raspberries, cherries, chamomile, orange blossoms, peaches and Gravenstein apples bombard both the nose and palate like a fresh early summer breeze. In addition, great potential for classic nutty maturity." (96 pts. Richard Juhlin, Champagne Club, April 2022)

It delivers an ethereal, transparent bouquet with red cherry, meat juices, cedar and pine trees, all beautifully defined and with exquisite detail, if never a powerful set of aromatics. The palate is medium-bodied with filigree tannin, perfectly judged acidity, lighter in style than other 1949s but with a beguiling pretty, slightly savory finish with black truffle shaved over the aftertaste. This is a classic and quite understated Lafite-Rothschild that steps aside and allows Mouton-Rothschild and Latour to take all the accolades." (92 pts. Neal Martin, Vinous, Feb. 2018)

"The 1990 Lynch-Bages continues to drink brilliantly at age 32, bursting from the glass with rich aromas of blackberries and crème de cassis mingled with cigar wrapper, loamy soil, burning embers, nori and subtle hints of sweet leather. Full-bodied, broad and fleshy, it's unctuous and enveloping, with a generous core of fruit, sweet but still present tannins and a long, expansive finish. I have always tended to compare the 1990 and 1989 Lynch-Bages, and both wines are among the finest produced in Bordeaux in those years, embarrassing several of the first growths; if I had to choose, I'd likely opt for the 1989 for its greater depth and staying power, but the 1990 is an immensely seductive, hedonistic wine that's very hard to resist." Magnum (6)
"The 2005 Léoville Las Cases is a classic that numbers among the wines of the vintage in the Médoc. Wafting from the glass with notes of dark berries, cassis, incense, burning embers, sweet soil tones, dark chocolate and cigar wrapper, it's medium to full-bodied, deep and layered, with a vibrant core of fruit, lively acids and sweet, powdery tannins. More elegant and refined than the hulking, uncompromising 2006, the 2005 is nevertheless a powerful, tightly wound wine that will reward further bottle age, even if it's actually quite expressive today." Pomerol

"The 1975 La Fleur-Pétrus is easily the finest vintage of the decade in what was a fecund year for great Pomerol. This example, from magnum, has a gorgeous loose-knit leather- and black truffle-scented nose indicative of a wine approaching the end of its drinking plateau, even from this impeccably sourced larger format. The palate is structured and typical of the 1975 vintage. This is quite masculine and maybe drier than you would expect. It leans more toward Lafleur than Petrus, but there is commendable vigor—if not the finesse—of a top vintage from this cru." (92 pts. Neal Martin, Vinous, March 2025)

"A very powerful, concentrated Tertre Roteboeuf, but completely closed at present, this wine has a deep ruby/purple color, and a sweet nose of black cherry and plum jam intermixed with hints of vanilla, chocolate, and espresso roast. The wine is medium to full-bodied, quite tannic, powerful, and one of the more backward wines I have tasted at this estate. It requires much more cellaring than I originally anticipated." (94+ pts. "While the 1995 Mouton Rothschild has begun to soften somewhat in the last six or seven years, it remains remarkably youthful. Offering up a deep and primary bouquet of ripe cassis fruit and creamy new oak, it's medium to full-bodied, rich and layered, with a vibrant core of concentrated fruit, powdery tannins and a long, resonant finish. This is a pure, beautifully balanced Mouton that simply hasn't evolved very much, even as it closes in on its third decade. While I can attest that it can be drunk with great enjoyment today, real complexity has yet to emerge." (94+ pts. William Kelley, Wine Advocate, Feb. 2022)

"The 1997 Pichon-Lalande is an off vintage that has held up extremely well for a wine now over two decades old. It has a lovely, mellow but quite generous bouquet of blackberry, briar, cedar and a subtle touch of mint. The palate is rounded on the entry and shows commendable depth. This is quite a voluminous wine, not nearly as complex as the 1996 yet bursting with savory red berry fruit mixed with leather and allspice. I agree with Nicolas Glumineau that it delivers a satisfying saline finish." (90 pts. Neal Martin, Vinous, April 2018)

308 Corton 1990
Grancey, L. Latour
1lbl
Bottle (11)
"The nose has reached full maturity and offers up notes of game, some secondary fruit aromas and ample earth nuances that continue onto the rich, full and still nicely firm full-bodied flavors underpinned by moderate tannins and excellent length. This avoids any dryness on the finish as well as the sometimes green aspect that certain 1990s display on the nose. In sum, a lovely wine that has reached its apogee but one that should also hold for many years to come." (91 pts. Allen Meadows, Burghound, Nov. 2017)

"This dark ruby/purple-colored wine has cassis-liqueur and bacon fat aromas as well as a concentrated, jammy, powerful, oily-textured, full-bodied, and rich personality. Intense layers of cherries, black currants, and herbs are found in its flavor profile as well as in its extremely long finish. It has power, concentration, depth, and length, but lacks elegance, precision, and purity." (91-93 pts. Pierre Rovani, Wine Advocate, Aug. 1998)

"More forward, open and textured, the 2000 Hermitage is an almost promiscuous effort that's just hard to resist. According to Jean-Louis, this wine has never shut down and has always delivered plenty of pleasure. It has classic cassis and blackberry fruit, bacon fat, violets and herbs to go with a full-bodied, layered and seamless, if not voluptuous, style on the palate. I'd line bottles up for drinking over the coming couple of years, but it should hold nicely for upward of a decade." (96 pts. Jeb Dunnuck, Wine Advocate, Aug. 2014)

Bottle (11)

"Tasted in Sauternes with Charles Chevalier, the 1988 Rieussec is a vintage that Chevalier himself claimed to be his favorite. I can understand why. It has an unerringly youthful bouquet with vibrant citrus fruit, wild honey, mandarin and mineral scents, a bouquet that seems to have electricity flowing through it. The same can be said for the palate that is full of tension and vigor, almost clinical in terms of focus with alluring viscosity and wonderful length. This bowled me over with its charm and breeding. Hunt a bottle down and share with your best friends—this is a superlative Rieussec, one of the best produced." (95 pts. Neal Martin, Wine Advocate, Jan. 2017)

Bottle (2)

"A highly expressive, spicy and appealingly complex nose offers up fresh aromas of red berry fruit, floral nuances and soft Asian-style tea notes. The beautifully well-detailed, balanced and energetic flavors possess excellent transparency on the vibrant and mouth coating if slightly spritzy finish. As was the case when I first reviewed this (see herein), there is a lingering inner mouth perfume that serves to make this most attractive and while this isn't a great Echézeaux in the context of the Domaine, it is undeniably pretty. Note that for my taste, this isn't quite at its peak though it's not so far away that it couldn't be enjoyed now. Tasted several times over the past few years with consistent results." (91 pts. "A notably riper, intensely spicy, airy and extremely fresh nose blends both red and blue berry fruit aromas as well as warm earth notes that continue onto the rich, velvety and mouth coating medium-bodied flavors that display a bit more minerality than I typically find, all wrapped in a firm, racy and driving finish that delivers outstanding length." "A ripe, elegant and densely fruited nose exudes notes of violets, sandalwood, anise and dried black berries that precede supple, rich and attractively voluminous flavors that retain a fine sense of underlying detail on the wonderfully intense, persistent and quite firm finish. This is an absolutely stunning wine and every bit as good as the genuinely remarkable 2005." (94 pts. Allen Meadows, Burghound, Jan. 2012)

320 Grands Echezeaux 2006*Domaine de la Romanee Conti*

lscl, #02053

Bottle (1)

"This remains quite reserved yet very classy with a wonderfully airy and layered nose that is distinctly floral while offering up a variety of spice notes, including anise, clove and soy nuances. There is terrific intensity to the pure and sleekly muscled flavors that possess real drive, indeed this does a slow but sure build from the mid-palate on through to the explosive, long finish. This is a fascinating wine in that the natural robustness of a fine GE is present but the natural elegance of the vintage tames it somewhat and one could quite accurately describe the '06 GE as robustly elegant yet distinctly understated. Despite the elegance, this will need plenty of cellar time." (94 pts. Allen Meadows, Burghound, July 2016)

Estimate: $2,000-$2,600

Starting Bid: $1,600

321 Grands Echezeaux 2007*Domaine de la Romanee Conti*

3lscl, #00778-00780

Bottle (3)

"A more densely fruited nose that is intensely floral in character and notably more complex as well intermingles with more subtle spice and earth notes as well as notes of game, jerky and tea, most of which are picked up by the fresh, intense, powerful and moderately well muscled big-bodied flavors that possess an attractive mouth feel and solid finishing depth. This possesses ample dry extract that renders the firm tannins almost invisible at present but I suspect the buffering effect will not last long before this shuts down. This is an understated effort that isn't especially dense or powerful, at least not by the usual superb standards of this wine, but the balance is nigh-on perfect." (91 pts. Allen Meadows, Burghound, Jan. 2010)

Estimate: $6,000-$8,000

“A broad array of classic Vosne spice elements add nuance to the super-fresh mildly earthy dark berry and rose petal aromas. The rich, full-bodied and palate staining big-bodied flavors flash a taut muscularity before culminating in a beautifully focused and precise finish that offers excellent persistence. Not surprisingly at only 10 years of age, this is still very young and a wine that will need at least 5 to 8 more years of bottle age first.” (93 pts. Allen Meadows, Burghound, April 2018)
Estimate: $13,000-$16,000
Starting Bid: $10,000

323 Grands Echezeaux 2009
Domaine de la Romanee Conti
3lsl, #00115-00117
Bottle (3)
“Opened at an event in Burgundy from bottles supplied directly by the domaine, this shows a gorgeously spicy and still relatively primary nose with overtly ripe aromas of black cherry, plum and a suggestion of mocha. There is a lovely sense of verve to the supple yet clearly concentrated middle-weight-plus flavors that are overtly muscular but not rustic, culminating in a superbly complex, palate-staining finish that goes on and on. This is almost always a very substantial wine and 2009 is no exception; while it is certainly not at its apogee, it is not so backward that it couldn’t reasonably be enjoyed now. That said, it should continue to improve over the next five to perhaps ten years and hold for several more decades.” (94 pts. Allen Meadows, Burghound, July 2023)

“Another rating identical to that which was given in 2007 (when first tasted from bottle), the 2004 Harlan Estate is performing essentially the way I suggested in 2007 as it is one of the more precocious and accessible of the Harlan Estate wines to date. A great showing at this retrospective, this wine, which seems like a hypothetical blend of a Pauillac, St.-Estephe and Graves, represents around 1,500 cases from 40 acres of beautifully manicured hillside vineyards overlooking Oakville. Still dense purple to the rim, with notes of creme de cassis, charcoal, blackberry and sweet toast, the wine is full-bodied and voluptuously textured with the tannins largely resolved. But the density and richness suggest this wine can go a long, long way, even though the window for drinking it seems open and inviting already. A world-class, first-growth wine if there ever was one from Napa, this is simply an exquisite Harlan Estate that has atypically reached mid to late adolescence at the age of ten. That is great given the fact that these are 30- to 40-year wines – possibly even half-century wines. Drink it over the next 30 years.” (98 pts. Robert Parker, Wine Advocate, April 2014)
Estimate: $1,900-$2,600
Starting Bid: $1,500

325 Harlan Estate Cabernet Sauvignon 2005
Bottle (2)
“The 2005 is incredibly youthful at age ten, although certainly drinkable. And who wouldn’t consume it if they had the opportunity? It will benefit from another 5-10 years of cellaring and certainly has 30 or more years left in its evolutionary curve. Gorgeous, and tasting akin to a hypothetical Pauillac blended with a great Pessac-Léognan from Bordeaux comes to mind because of the smoky, subtle barbecue notes, fruitcake, forest floor, graphite and minerality. The wine has stunning fruit and a full-bodied, powerful richness, yet is still nimble on its feet. This is a classic Napa Cabernet Sauvignon from an absolutely magnificent hillside vineyard in the Mayacamas Mountains overlooking the Oakville corridor on the valley floor. This opaque, garnet/purple wine is another tour de force and, once again, proves that Harlan Estate is not only one of the greatest wines of California, but of the world.” (98+ pts. Robert Parker, Wine Advocate, June 2015)
Estimate: $1,400-$1,800
Starting Bid: $1,100

326 Scarecrow Cabernet Sauvignon 2014

Bottle (3)
“The 2014 Cabernet Sauvignon is a heady, exotic wine. Blackberry jam, cloves, chocolate and espresso are all dialed up to the maximum. It has aged well, but it is also peaking and in the zone for drinking today. The oak imprint is rather strong, which leads me to believe the 2014 won’t be extremely long-lived, but it is incredibly beautiful today. Readers who own this should start opening bottles.” (96 pts. Antonio Galloni, Vinous, Jan. 2025)

"Deep garnet in color, the 2009 Cabernet Sauvignon struts flamboyantly out of the glass with notions of crème de cassis, blackberry pie and plum preserves plus hints of cigar box, Chinese five spice, sautéed herbs, cast-iron pan and charcuterie. Full-bodied, rich, seductive and oh-so-decadent, it has a firm level of beautifully plush tannins and loads of exotic spice and savory layers, finishing long and mineral laced." (97 pts. IX Estate
"From the Pritchard Hill Vineyard, the 2006 IX Proprietary Red Estate is a blend of 66% Cabernet Sauvignon, 21% Merlot, 8% Cabernet Franc, and 5% Petit Verdot. The good news is that there are 1,500 cases of this cuvee. It, too, reveals the noble sweetness of tannin, the extraordinary rich, intense mouthfeel, and sumptuous aromas of flowers, burning embers, blackberries, blueberries, spice box, and cedar. With extraordinary intensity, beautiful purity, a texture and flavors that build incrementally on the palate, and a significantly long finish, this is a perfect wine." (100 pts. - 352 Colgin Red 2009
IX Estate
Bottle (3)
"Full, deep ruby. Deep aromas of dark fruits, spices, smoky oak and flowers, plus a whiff of game. Utterly plush and mouthfilling but not at all heavy, showing serious thickness and high-altitude density to its sweet blue and black fruit, spice and chocolate flavors. And yet this wine's floral element gives it an almost light touch, if that's possible. Some subtle soil tones reminded me of the outstanding Syrah from this site on Pritchard Hill. Finishes with substantial but noble tannins and terrific length." (96 pts. Stephen Tanzer, Vinous, March 2019)

"The 2011 IX Estate is the softest of the three Cabernet Sauvignon-based wines in this range from Colgin, but there is plenty of breath and power, too. Sweet red cherry, iron, dried herbs, gravel, licorice and menthol lend class and personality to this beautifully articulated mountain red. The 2011 is showing so well today. It has enough freshness to drink well for another decade plus." (95 pts. Antonio Galloni, Vinous, Oct. 2021)

"The 2012 IX Proprietary Red Estate, which comes from their gorgeous hillside vineyards overlooking Lake Hennessey high on Pritchard Hill, is a blend of 62% Cabernet Sauvignon, 19% Merlot, 11% Cabernet Franc and 8% Petit Verdot. Absolutely spectacular aromatics of spring flowers, blueberry, blackberry and blackcurrant fruit intermixed with creosote, graphite and floral notes are followed by a wine of great depth, elegance, richness and purity. Simply loaded, but with pristine harmony and equilibrium, this is a sensational tour de force and a great tribute to this spectacular hillside site on Pritchard Hill." (99 pts. "Espresso, mocha, dark red berries, rose petals and spices are some of the many notes that emerge from the 2008 Harlan Estate. The wine fleshes out beautifully in the glass as it shows off its class and true pedigree. This is a decidedly ripe, forward vintage, but in exchange the wine will drink well right out of the gate." "Bright, saturated ruby. Alluring aromas of blueberry, cassis, licorice, minerals, mocha and nutty oak. At once thick and lively on entry, then densely packed and compellingly deep in the middle palate, with its dark fruit, smoke and graphite flavors conveying a subtle savory quality that nicely buffers the wine's sweetness and alcohol. At once harmonious and gripping for the year, this reverberating, palate-staining wine spreads out on the back end without losing its verticality—if that's possible! Impeccable tannin management here." (97 pts. Stephen Tanzer, Vinous, March 2019)

"A slightly more compact version of the great Hillside, but nevertheless youthful, the 2006 Shafer Cabernet Sauvignon Hillside Select has a dense purple color, some notes of damp earth, cedar wood, forest floor, red and black currants, and toast. Some austere tannins kick in in the finish, but the wine is full-bodied, ripe and rich. An outstanding effort, but not one of the monumental vintages for Hillside Select, it should be drunk over the next 20 years." (92 pts. Robert Parker, Wine Advocate, Dec. 2014)

380 Shafer Cabernet Sauvignon 2008

Hillside Select

Bottle (6)

"Bright, full medium ruby. Extravagant, superripe aromas of cassis, blackberry, black cherry, graphite, minerals and espresso. Wonderfully plush, liqueur-like and sweet, showing a distinctly herbal quality that energizes the deep dark fruits in the middle palate. Very dense, thick wine with the stuffing to support its firm tannins. The extremely long, slowly rising finish conveys repeating notes of liqueur-like ripeness yet comes across as quite youthful, even backward. This wine should continue to evolve and harmonize with further aging." (93+ pts. Stephen Tanzer, Vinous, March 2018)

Hillside Select

Bottle (6)

"A remarkable wine, the 2010 Shafer Cabernet Sauvignon Hillside Select has gone from strength to strength since it was in cask. It is stunningly rich, with classic, fragrant notes of blackcurrants, blackberries, vanilla, graphite and spring flowers. It exhibits an opaque purple color, with a full-bodied, massive mouthfeel, but no heaviness, and again, a flawless integration of acidity, tannin, alcohol and wood. It's classic California Cabernet, but beautifully put together, showing impeccable craftsmanship and fabulous potential." (100 pts. Robert Parker, Wine Advocate, Dec. 2014)

"The 2011 Cabernet Sauvignon Hillside Select is intensely aromatic and bright. Rose petal, sage, mint and blood orange give the 2011 crazy aromatic presence. Still very fresh and nuanced, the 2011 has aged impeccably and also has the energy to drink well for another decade. The 2011 will always be a lithe, understated Hillside Select, but the pedigree is very much there. The introduction of optical sorting for the first time surely helped." (94 pts. "The 2012 Cabernet Sauvignon Hillside Select is a perfect wine. It elicits more than a few 'vows' when you smell the incredible notes of charcoal, graphite and subtle toast, buttressed and dominated by blackcurrant, blackberry and blueberry fruit. The purity of these fruits, the multidimensional mouthfeel, the seamless integration of acid, alcohol, tannin and wood are all flawless. The 2012 signature adds an extravagant opulence and density that is just mind-boggling, and the wine is a total hedonistic and intellectual turn-on already, although it has 30+ years of life ahead of it." "The 2013 Cabernet Sauvignon Hillside Select will probably hit the magic three-digit score, but it is a more backward style of wine, although probably even more concentrated than the 2012, and that's saying something. Fabulous potential of 30-50 years is evident in this profound bottle of Cabernet Sauvignon that is inky blue/black to the rim and offers up notes of charcoal embers, scorched earth, blackberries, cassis, blueberries, a hint of coffee, and background barrique smells. Massively concentrated but incredibly elegant and poised, this is a wine of great energy and vibrancy. It is fabulously deep, built like a skyscraper, and set for an incredibly long life." (98+ pts. "Bright, full red-ruby. Delightfully floral and cool on the nose following the 2004, offering good mineral lift to the aromas of red berries, licorice and rose petal. Clearly tighter than the '04, in a much more classic style but still youthfully imploded, showing a subtle salinity to its redcurrant and raspberry flavors. There's compelling sweetness here but a less glycerol texture than some of the richest vintages. Boasts outstanding structure for long-term aging, though, finishing very young, savory and long, with firm tannic spine and hints of hoisin sauce and spices." (95+ pts. "Healthy ruby-red. Wild plum, dark berries, musky espresso, mocha and graphite on the varietally expressive nose. Shows wonderful mineral verve but this utterly seamless wine still conveys a musky suggestion of reduction. It's also more red than black fruit in style and shows its site more than the vintage character. Really lovely inner-mouth aromatic perfume here. Finishes with fine-grained tannins and lovely slowly building lift. This wine blew away many of the portier, clunkier examples in my 2007 group tastings but it may need earlier drinking than some vintages of Bryant. The silky, seamless finish features a light touch and terrific spice and mocha lift." (95 pts. Stephen Tanzer, Vinous, March 2017)

Medium to full-bodied, the elegantly styled palate offers tantalizing restraint with a firm frame of very fine, pixelated tannins and compelling freshness, finishing very long with an invigorating lift. Really impeccably balanced, classy wine with uncanny precision and inner-mouth aromatic lift and a resounding, endlessly building aftertaste that leaves the taste buds quivering. A wine of great finesse and energy, not to mention noble palate-saturating, fully ripe tannins. This is more about subtlety than weight, but is still hard to scrape off your palate. "The 2012 Dominus is a wild, exotic wine. Harvest began on October 9 and finished on the 21st, very late by present-day standards. Ripe red cherry, kirsch, cinnamon, rose petal, incense and rose petal soar out of the glass. Deep and vibrant, with terrific freshness, Dominus is very clearly one of the wines of the year. I loved the 2012 from barrel, but found it quite closed after bottling. Now, after all these years, I finally see the realization of the potential suggested in my barrel tastings. Magnificent." Bottle (6)
"The 2013 Dominus is, to my way of thinking, one of the most profound wines Christian Moueix has yet made in his rather brilliant winemaking history, both in France and in Napa Valley. This wine, with very low yields of only 3,500 cases and a final blend of 89% Cabernet Sauvignon, 7% Petit Verdot and 4% Cabernet Franc, offers up notes of cedar wood, forest floor, loamy soil and oodles of blackberry and blackcurrant fruit. Very opaque purple in color, super-pure and intense, this wine has low acidity, but ripe, noticeable tannins. This is a 30- to 40-year wine and a profound effort from this famous vineyard in Yountville. Drink it over the next 40+ years." (100 pts. Robert Parker, Wine Advocate, Oct. 2015)

"The 2014 Dominus is a pretty, relatively delicate wine with soft tannins, notwithstanding its fine depth. Red cherry fruit, spice, cedar, leather and pipe tobacco all show the first signs of maturity. I imagine the 2014 will be at its best over the next decade, perhaps a bit more, even if it does not have the intensity of the very best vintages. Readers will find a Dominus of finesse more than power. I find the 2014 a bit hushed today and also not totally in balance, as the aromatics are a bit more forward than the palate. That could be how the wine is evolving, or simply how it is settling into its next phase." (95 pts. Antonio Galloni, Vinous, Jan. 2025)

Kirsch, rose petals, pomegranates and spices form a fabric of compelling beauty. The 2007 is rich, sumptuous and generous, just as it should be. Threads of striking perfume are woven throughout, adding aromatic lift and pure sensuality. Readers who like more structured wines are likely to gravitate towards vintages such as 2010, but years like 2007 offer immense pleasure and an immediacy I find impossible to resist. "Bright dark ruby. Initially reticent nose opened in the glass to reveal wonderfully complex scents of black- and redcurrant, blackberry, minerals, licorice, loam and tobacco leaf, plus a whiff of leather. Seamless, savory and classy on entry if a bit subdued, then delivers lovely restrained sweetness and a complicating wildness in the middle palate that still calls for more bottle aging. Old World in its classic dryness, this highly concentrated Opus One really shines on its vibrant, slowly building back end, where the broad, dusty tannins caress and saturate the palate and allow the fruits and minerals to build. A wine of outstanding depth, clarity, finesse of grain and class; it's hard to imagine that this site could give more. "The 2012 Opus One is a terrific choice for drinking now. Silky and beautifully perfumed, the 2012 is wonderfully open-knit in this tasting. The purity of the fruit is alluring. There's still a good bit of freshness, too. Naturally, the 2012 reflects the medium-bodied style that is typical of the year, but all the elements are very nicely balanced. Crushed red berry fruit, mint, rose petal, spice and blood orange linger." (95 pts. Antonio Galloni, Vinous, May 2024)
Estimate: $1,600-$2,000
Starting Bid: $1,200
- 427 Opus One 2013

Bottle (6)
"Deep garnet colored, the 2013 Opus One needs a little swirling before exploding with preserved black and blue fruits—blueberry compote, blackberry pie and blackcurrant cordial—giving way to notes of unsmoked cigars, new leather, beef drippings and menthol with wafts of roasted rosemary and rose oil. Medium to full-bodied, the palate is both powerful and ethereal, charged with energy and backed up by profound black fruits, supported with plush tannins and seamless freshness, finishing very long and beautifully perfumed." (98 pts. Lisa Perrotti-Brown, Wine Advocate, Feb. 2021)
Estimate: $2,000-$2,600
Starting Bid: $1,600
- 428 Opus One 2014
1bn, 1ssos, owc
Bottle (6)
"Deep garnet colored, the 2014 Opus One opens with youthful notes of warm blackberries, chocolate-covered cherries, redcurrant jelly and blackcurrant pastilles with hints of bay leaves, tobacco leaf and underbrush. Medium to full-bodied, firm and grainy with a lively backbone and tightly wound black and red berry layers, it finishes with a compelling herbal lift." (96 pts. - 429 Opus One 2015
owc
Bottle (6)
"The 2015 Opus One is every bit as glorious as it was on release. I am so taken with the wine's freshness and verve. Flowers, red-toned fruit, spice and blood orange are very finely delineated. In its youth, the 2015 was decidedly exotic and flamboyant. Time has done a lot to settle down some of that initial exuberance. Today, the 2015 doesn't have the mid-palate body of some years, but that actually plays in its favor. The profile is also distinctly on the red-fruited end of the spectrum. Time is the ultimate judge when it comes to wine, and the 2015 exceeds all expectations." (97 pts. Antonio Galloni, Vinous, Nov. 2025)

"Deep garnet-purple colored, the 2016 Opus One bursts from the glass with ripe blueberries, black cherry jam and crème de cassis with hints of violets, dark chocolate, cedar chest and cardamom, plus a touch of charcoal. Full-bodied, rich and concentrated, the palate delivers layer upon layer of opulent stewed black fruit with amazing tension and firm, ripe, fine-grained tannins, finishing long with a whole array of exotic spices coming through." 433 Bonnes Mares 2011

Pousse d'Or

Bottle (10)

"As is typically the case, this is noticeably less elegant but even more complex though it requires considerable swirling at this early stage to coax the aromas of plum, cassis, earth, spice and dried floral notes to reveal themselves. There is outstanding size, weight, power and punch to the broad-shouldered, intense, dense and velvety flavors that culminate in a palate staining finish that delivers flat out amazing length. This is a classic power without weight example of Bonnes Mares." (95 pts. Allen Meadows, Burghound, April 2013)

Estimate: $2,400-$3,250

Starting Bid: $1,900

434 Chassagne Montrachet 2006

En Virondot, M. Morey

Bottle (12)

"This is unusually ripe for this cru as the elevated placement of the vineyard typically makes for very cool and reserved wines when young. A green fruit, citrus and pear nose merges gracefully into refined, pure and focused flavors that are also a bit more powerful than usual though there is plenty of the hallmark minerality and vibrancy on the impressively long and fine finish. Lovely juice." (91 pts. Allen Meadows, Burghound, July 2008)

Estimate: $750-$950

436 Louis Roederer Vintage Champagne 2009

Cristal

3ogb

Magnum (3)

"One of the driest and least directly charming Cristals at launch. The biodynamic and dosage reduction in this non-malolactic wine will probably not be received with such open arms by nightclub drinkers worldwide. However, I am very impressed, not least with the courage required to take a new, less flirtatious direction and target the wine connoisseurs who manage to keep their Cristal for ten years in their own cellar. On magnum, this is a mountain brook clean winner who gilded my parents' diamond wedding. In the ordinary bottle more creamy and stronger in the expression without really reaching the highest level of elegance. Nut fudge and melon-driven fruit with elements of mango and white chocolate lead the style today." (97 pts. Richard Juhlin, Champagne Club, Dec. 2023)

Estimate: $1,300-$1,700

Starting Bid: $1,000

437 Louis Roederer Vintage Champagne 2009

Cristal

6ogb

Magnum (6)

"Translucent, shimmering gold indicates a wine of poised ripeness; beautiful scents of orange blossom merge with sense of great chalky terroir. The purity and sublime texture of the mouthfeel owes a lot to non-malolactic winemaking which maintains freshness after the uninterrupted warmth of summer to harvest end. Also it also shows the essential true fruit now and for 20 years to come. Long lingering finish. A great supremely elegant Champagne. Dosage 8 g/l" (97 pts. Decanter online)

Estimate: $2,600-$3,500

Starting Bid: $2,000

- 440 Graham's Vintage Port 1994
 Bottle (12)
"Nearly full opacity. Spicy bouquet with esteva, pine resin and creosote. Medium-full weight and off dry entry. Floral and long, with massive ripe tannins yielding a VP with long term cellaring potential. A classy wine that is a wee bit young and needs time to mellow. I believe this has another half century of upside from here. Excellent!" (96+ pts. Roy Hersh, For the Love of Port, Oct. 2014)
 Estimate: $450-$550
 Starting Bid: $350
- 441 Graham's Vintage Port 1994
 Bottle (12)
"The 1994 Graham's Vintage Port, which incidentally carries quite noticeable sediment, as there is no fining or filtration, is beginning to show a little bricking on the rim. The bouquet is very harmonious and welcoming, featuring aromas of mulberry, roasted chestnut, pressed rose petals, autumn leaves and a hint of liquorice. The nose is not powerful; rather, it displays a brooding intensity. The palate is medium-bodied with fine-grained tannin and lightly spiced with clove, pain d'épices and again, a scintilla of liquorice. Though it obviously has another 20 or 30 years in the tank, this mellow Graham's is drinking beautifully now." (95 pts. Neal Martin, Vinous, Nov. 2018)
 Estimate: $450-$550
 Starting Bid: $350

CARVED IN GRANITE PART II: THE MAINE CELLAR

This offer represents a further selection from the distinguished coastal Maine cellar featured in our previous sale. Constructed in the 1970s and carved into granite bedrock, the purpose-built cellar provides naturally stable temperatures and humidity, creating ideal conditions for long-term aging.

Meticulously organized by region and vintage, with many bottles fitted with handwritten neck tags to minimize handling, the collection reflects a lifetime of thoughtful collecting and careful stewardship. Wines opened during recent visits consistently displayed remarkable vitality and freshness, underscoring the integrity of both the cellar and its provenance.

This offering represents a further selection from a longstanding private collection in the southeastern United States. Originating from a family-owned New York liquor business, many of the wines were acquired upon release through trusted importers and wholesalers, reflecting decades of experience within the trade.

Following the sale of the business, the wines were transferred to temperature-controlled storage, where they have remained carefully maintained. Featuring classic Bordeaux alongside select California wines, this collection continues a tradition of thoughtful acquisition, strong provenance, and careful stewardship.

458 Outpost Cabernet Sauvignon 2019

True Vineyard

Bottle (12)

"From a vineyard that had to be created using dynamite, the 2019 Cabernet Sauvignon True Vineyard is 100% Cabernet Sauvignon, yet it shows exquisitely pristine blueberry fruit, accented by subtle pine-needle shadings. Full-bodied, concentrated and rich, with a plush texture that combines the best qualities of velvet and high-fat cream, it displays an awesome sense of balance, as it completely saturates the palate, yet it does so without any heaviness, then lingers elegantly on the lengthy finish." Double-Magnum (1)

"The 2022 Pavie turned out beautifully. Although a touch reticent post-bottling, the 2022 impresses with its notable energy and vibrancy. Dark-toned fruit, leather, spice, menthol, licorice and gravel stain the palate. The 2022 offers tons of textural intensity but without the overt weight that was once such a signature here. 465 Chateau Pichon Lalande 1982

hs, bsl, nl, lscl, lcc, spc

Bottle (1)

"Several years ago, I purchased a case of the 1982 Pichon Longueville Comtesse de Lalande from a frigid Alsatian cellar where it had lain undisturbed since release, and from these bottles, it continues to very much merit a three-digit score. One of the most flamboyant, sensual wines of the vintage, it offers up a sweet bouquet of blackcurrants and blackberries mingled with notions of orange rind, violets, licorice and pipe tobacco. Full-bodied, supple and enveloping, with melting tannins, ripe acids and a long, cedar-inflected finish, it continues to deliver magical drinking. Having drunk the 1982 six or seven times this year, however, I am forced to concede that bottles that show this level of vibrancy and flare aren't so easy to find, so now is a great time to start pulling corks in earnest. This may not prove to be the very longest-lived wine of the vintage, but its star certainly did burn bright!" (100 pts. William Kelley, Wine Advocate, Dec. 2022)

Estimate: $550-$750

Starting Bid: $425

466 Sassicaia 2023
Tenuta San Guido
Bottle (12)
"Very few vintages of this legendary Tuscan wine deliver the immediate joy, richness and complexity found in the Tenuta San Guido 2023 Bolgheri Sassicaia. Tasted both before and after its January 2026 bottling, this is a wine that feels uncannily open and generous in its youth, a rare trait for Sassicaia, which is famously inscrutable at this stage. The blend includes 13% to 14% Cabernet Franc alongside Cabernet Sauvignon, with the Franc playing a decisive phenolic role that reinforces elegance, linearity and brightness. Aromas unfold with wild sage, rosemary and dark fruit before moving into crushed stone minerality, rose petal and a finely spiced spectrum of pink peppercorn, nutmeg, anise, cardamom, bergamot and blood orange, joined by a delicate note of mentuccia romana, sweeter and gentler than classic mint. The palate shows beautiful softness framed by chalky tannins and mineral tension. Its acidity shines bright and guarantees long cellar aging potential. The wine remains fluid and flexible in the glass as different facets of the bouquet emerge. Like the legendary 1985, 2023 was a difficult and stressful vintage shaped by a cold winter, yet it stands as proof that great pressure can indeed give birth to diamonds." (100 pts. 468 Harlan Estate Cabernet Sauvignon 2003
nl
Bottle (1)
"One of the most backward yet promising wines of the vintage is the 2003 Harlan Estate. Its dense opaque plum/purple color is accompanied by a sumptuous bouquet of graphite, camphor, creme de cassis, smoky barbecue wood and a hint of forest floor. Similar flavors hit the mouth with full-bodied splendor, a multidimensional mouthfeel and texture, and the sensational finish lasts more than 45 seconds. Some tannins are still present, and this wine seems much younger than expected at ten years of age, so give it 4-5 more years of bottle age and consume it over the following 20-25 years." (98+ pts.
